An independent Arab political daily published by the Jordan Press Foundation جوردان تايمز يومية سيلسية تصدر بالانجليزية عن المؤسسة المبحقية الأربينية والراي، ZAHRAN MEDICAL LABORATORY

Dr. Jalal Haddadin Previously director of Al Hussein Hospital Medical Laboratory.

WELCOMES Dr. Hassib Sahyoun Previously director of Al Khalidi

who has recently joined Zahran Medical Laboratory. The laboratory has been updated with all the necessary staff, equipment and facilities to perform the full range of clinical laboratory investigations backed by quality control programmes.

Working hours: 8:00 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. Saturday to Thursday

Price: Jordan 100 fils; Sandi Arabia 1.50 riyals; UAE 1.50 dirhams

9:00 a.m. - 1 p.m. Friday against Iraq.

Address: Ibn Khaldoun Str., near Al Khalidi Hospital, opposite Rawhi Pharmacy, P.O. Box: 830200 Amman or 37 Dahiat

Hospital Medical Laboratory.

Telephone Nr.: 651450

Amir Rashed.

Bush invites Aziz to U.S., to send Baker to Iraq

Combined agency dispatches

Volume 15 Number 4561

్తు'.S. PRESIDENT George Bush announced Friday he was inviting the Iraqi Foreign Minister to Washington and sending Secretary of State James Baker to Iraq, but blended the diplomatic overture with a stern warning there would "not be any murky ending" if war breaks out in the Middle East.

Bush said Baker would be prepared "to discuss all aspects of the Gulf crisis," but said the United States would not waiver in its demand for total Iraqi withdrawal, restoration of the toppled Kuwaiti government and release of all foreign nationals held in Iraq and Kuwait.

He stressed that he has no optimism that Baker's mission will have any "big results." Instead, he said the overture demonstrated his desire to "go the extra mile" for a peaceful settlement of the crisis. Iraq's leadership appeared to have been taken by surprise by Bush's announcement and went immediately into a meeting for consultations, diplomats said.

There were no immediate de-

WASHINGTON (R) — U.S.

President George Bush met Chinese Foreign Minister Qian Qichen Friday in a move that seemed designed to end Beijing's international isolation following ter John Major was sworn into office Friday by Queen Elizabeth

II at a Privy Council meeting at Buckingham Palace. During the remony, dating to the middle ages, Major and the five new members of his 22-member cabinet kissed the monarch's

hand and were made lifetime members of the Privy Council, a body of just under 400 royal

¹DARIS (R) — İranian Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayati will travel to France next week for the highest-ranking political visit between the two countries since they resumed relations two years ago. The French Foreign Ministry

said Velayati would hold talks with Foreign Minister Roland

Dumas. Government sources said they would discuss the Gulf crisis and a bilateral financial dispute dating back to 1974.

Greens block

U.S. cargo for Gulf

MANNHEIM, Germany (AP) -

Around 100 demonstrators, some carrying posters demanding 'no

second Vietnam,' tried to block a shipment of U.S. military supplies headed for the Gulf, officials said Friday. According to reports from the Green Party, the group of demonstrators blocked

the entrance to the Mannheim

harbour for four hours late

Thursday, preventing supplies to be unloaded from military trucks

and brought aboard U.S. ships docked there. In response to the blockade, police held the bulk of the convoy of vehicles carrying supplies back in the U.S. bar-

BONN (R) — A group of Germans who were held and released

by Iraq said Friday they wanted

Kohl under fire

racks.

Velayati to visit

France next week

councillors.

Bush meets Qian

Iraq, a "nation of impossible missions," rejected the U.N. Security Council ultimatum to withdraw from Knwait and would > fight to keep the conquered emirate if necessary. At the same time, the sevenman council repeated a call for dialogue with the United States to resolve the Gulf crisis and the Palestinian question on "the basis of equality and mutual respect."

ary Command Council beaded by President Saddam Hussein said

For weeks, Iraqi officials have said they would welcome talks with U.S. officials on the Gulf crisis. But they have rejected demands that Iraq first withdraw unconditionally from Kuwait.

"This is not dialogue. These are preconditions imposed to insure our capitulation. We reject such preconditions," Saddam said two weeks ago in an interview with the American television network ABC.

Bush's dramatic peace overture amounted to a shift of position in which the president abandoned an earlier refusal to talk directly tails on who attended the meetwith Baghdad until it had ended its four-month occupation of Earlier, the ruling Revolution-

"It isn't a trip of concession," Bush said of his willingness to despatch Baker to Baghdad.

Iraq has "got to understand what the alternatives are to comply with the United Nations resolution, and the best way to get that across is one-on-one, Baker looking (at Saddam) right in the

The president stressed that he was keeping the military option open and pledged that, if he decided to free Kuwait by force, it would not be "another Viet-nam" in which U.S. troops fought a long, bloody and losing war. At a news conference after his statement, Bush said he extended the offer "to go the extra mile for peace" following the U.N. ac-

Asked if he received any diplomatic signals from Iraq that prompted the offer, Bush replied: "No. The only thing I've heard is that they want to talk, here's an opportunity."

In what appeared to be a possible peace-feeler from Iraq, Bush disclosed that the Iraqis had delivered fruit, vegetables and cigarettes to the beleaguered U.S. embassy in Kuwait earlier Friday. He said the Iraqis planned to deliver medical supplies Saturday to the handful of diplomats holding out in the diplomatic outpost in Kuwait. The embassy has remained open, cut off from food and other supplies, against Iraqi orders to close and transfer personnel to Baghdad in recognition of Iraq's claim that Kuwait is now an Iraqi province. "Let's try to be optimistic. This could be a positive sign," Bush

AMMAN SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1996, JUMA'DAH AL-ULA 13, 1411

The Los Angeles Times re-ported Friday that Bush had ordered another 300 military planes to the Gulf, making a total of 1.200 planes.

The newspaper said the reinforcement underscored hopes of the U.S. military that massive air power would enable it to avoid a bloody war on the ground. Secretary of State Baker prefigured Bush's call for talks by saying earlier on Friday that after passage of the U.N. ultimatum we will engage in 45 days of serious, honest, good-faith hard efforts to try and find a diplomatic, political and peaceful solution to this problem. Bush, speaking to reporters during a televised news conference, said he hoped that President Saddam would receive Baker "at a mutually convenient time" between Dec. 15 and Jan.

He also invited Iraqi Foreign Minister Tareq Aziz to Washington for consultations during the week of Dec. 10.

Iraqi Ambassador to France Abdul Razzack Al Hashimi welcomed Bush's offer as a "very important step" towards peace.

We hope it is going to achieve what we are all striving for. Negotiations instead of beating the drums of war," Hashimi was quited as saying by the BBC.
"I am persuaded that if these contacts take place, they will be really, really leading to a peaceful solution," U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar told reporters Friday

The U.N. chief indicated that he would wait to see the outcome of U.S. efforts before deciding whether he should intervene. "They are trying their hand and I have the greatest respect for their decision," he said. "I will follow their efforts very carefully and I wish them all success." A former top-ranking intelligence official told congress Friday that the United States should continue "our present defensive position" in Saudi Arabia rather than wage war with Iraq.

Jordan, Yemen discuss Gulf

AMMAN (J.T.) — Yemen's Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Abdul Karim Al Iryani Thursday paid a brief visit to Jordan during which he conveyed a message to His Majesty King Hussein from Yemeni President Ali Abdullah Saleh on Middle East developments and current efforts to find a peaceful settlement to the Gulf crisis. The Yemeni official briefed the King on the outcome of talks held in Sanaa last month by U.S. Secretary of State James Baker and Yemeni leaders, according to the Jordan News Agency, Petra. The meeting at the Royal Court was attended by Chief of the Royal Court Sharif Zeid Ben Shaker and Deputy Prime Minis-

But Odom said the cost of attacking Iraqi forces in Kuwait - or Iraq itself - could prove to

Odom, who headed the super-

secret National Security Agency

under former President Ronald Reagan, said he had "no doubt that we win" an offensive action

ter and Foreign Minister Marwan

Al Qasem. Iryani, who left later Thursday for home, told Petra at the airport that the message to the King tackled the dangerous situation in the region following the endorsement of a Security Council resolution on the use of force which, he said, can put further obstacles in the path of peace efforts.

"I have heard a full assessment of the situation from King Hussein and I can see an identity of views between Jordan and Yemen on the Gulf issue and on the need to find a peaceful settlement to avert war and devastation," the Yemeni minister said.

be an even longer U.S. military presence in the region than envisioned with the defensive posture now established. Odom's testimony came at the end of a week in which members of the Senate Armed Services Committee heard an array of witnesses, including two former chairmen of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, urge caution in the standoff with Iraq. "Every single witness we've had here with differing views on other things, all of them have felt we've overdeployed," committee chairman Sam Num said at the conclusion of Thursday's testi-Nunn is a member of the Democratic Party, which controls both houses of Congress. Bush is Republican. The Bush administration could have led off the hearing, perhaps setting the tone. Defence Secretary Dick Cheney and Gen. Colin Powell, current chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, were invited to be the initial witnesses. But they declined and the spotlight has been captured by a

(Continued on page 3) More foreigners

leave Iraq

BAGHDAD (Agencies) - A group of about 80 foreigners,

most of them Swedes, left Friday

aboard a chartered Iraqi Airways flight bound for Stockholm, air-

The sources, quoted by the AP, said the group includes 65 Swedes, five Britons and five

Finns. The sources said five or six other Westerners were on the light, but that their nationalities

Iraq has said that Swedes trapped by Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait may leave if they wish.

The Swedish embassy in Baghdad

said Thursday two of its nationals

All the other Swedes who had been stranded in Kuwait or Iraq

since the invasion were on Fri-

Iraq's National Assembly decreed that all Swedes can leave have opted to stay.

day's charter

were not immediately known.

port sources said.

U.N.Gulf resolution sparks calls for more peace efforts its 1989 military crackdown on a pro-democracy movement (see LONDON (Agencies) — Counearlier story on page 8). tries around the world on Friday called for greater peace efforts to end the Gulf crisis following the Major sworn in as prime minister U.N. Security Council's resolu-tion authorising force if Iraq did not leave Kuwait by Jan. 15. LONDON (AP) -- Prime Minis-

Iraq rejected the ultimatum. U.S. Secretary of States James Baker, the driving force behind diplomatic countdown to avoid war. He added that every effort would be made to find a peaceful. diplomatic solution, but if it failed Baghdad must face the consequences. Other nations saw it as aiding the chances of a peaceful solution.

"The Security Council's decision means a further escalation of the international pressure on Iraq to secure its withdrawal from Knwait in line with the United Nations' demands," Norway said.

"The time limit given in this decision must he utilised to the maximum to achieve this goal without the use of force," Foreign Mînistry spokesman Bjoern Blokhus added.

"With its latest resolution, the Security Council of the United Nations has shown a further sign of its resolve to solve the crisis in the Gulf through friendly tional law."

OCCUPIED JERUSALEM

The four universities have been closed since the outbreak of the Palestinian uprising three years

Defence Ministry spokesman

Dan Navch rejected international criticism of the closures as collecclosed because a few people were involved in violence, but because most of the students were involved in violence. It's not an issue of collective punishment. It's an issue of collective vio-

The closures keep at least 12,000 studetns out of school in the occupied West Bank and

The army ordered all six

Palestinian universities closed

shortly after the start of the uprising in December 1987. It said the campuses were hotbeds of anti-

In October, it permitted Bethlehem University to reopen its campus for an estimated 1,400

students. It followed by several months the reopening of two small campuses of Al Quds University in Jerusalem.

"The universities were not

tive punishment.

lence," he said.

Israeli activities.

Gaza Strip.

Israeli official said Friday.

Israel orders new

Arab universities

extended closure of

(AP) — Israel ordered four at the time that "good be-Palestinian universities closed for haviour" at Bethlehem would an additional three months, an lead to the reopening of other means," said German government spokesman Hans Klein But Germany's leftist Greens Party warned: "With its latest decision on the Gulf crisis, the Security Council has started a time bomb. A war, with chemical weapons, is now close at hand in the Near East. Whoever makes ultimatums puts himself in the

Denmark said the resolution "is not a declaration of war." Foreign Minister Uffe Ellemann-Jensen added: "On the contrary the clear intention of the new resolution is to put the maximum pressure on Iraq to achieve a peaceful solution of the conflict."

Italian Foreign Minister Gianni de Michelis said: "What counts most is that while an explicit warning is thrown at Iraq, there is also still room to continue looking for a political solution."

Egypt, ignoring any linkage between the Kuwait crisis and the Palestinian issue, called the resolution a "victory."

Butros Ghali, minister of state for foreign affairs, said Thursday: "The Security Council resolution is a victory for the peace cause and will contribute to the enforcement of the rules of interna-

No major incidents have been reported at Bethlehem since

October, and professors at other universities had hoped this signalled the army's closure orders

would be lifted from the four remaining universities: Hebron,

Bir Zeit, Al Najah in Nabuls and Saeb Erakat, a lecturer in poli-

"The closure is part of the tical science at Al Najah, said notification of the closure exten-

Israeli war against the Palestinain people in culture, economics and

The army closures of schools and universities in the West Bank and Gaza have been roundly criticised by Western nations and human rights groups as collective ers expressed their anger over the stabbing earlier this week by a volunteer Swedish nurse at a hos-

Palestinian tecnager, who fied

and left behind a message saying he was protesting Western in-volvement in the Gulf.

The attack was blamed on a

Also Friday, Palestinian lead-

sions were received Thursday.

Islamic in Gaza City.

politics," Erakat said.

punishment.

PRAYER FOR RAINS: His Majesty King Hussein Friday led worshippers performing a special prayer for rain heid at Tareq area. Minister of Awqaf and Islamic Affairs Ali Faqir said that such a prayer is performed when there is no rainfall or when the rainfall is delayed or scarce. Taking part in the prayers were His

Royal Highness Crown Prince Hassan, the speakers of the Upper and Lower Houses of Parliament, Royal Court Chief Sharif Zei Ben Shaker, Chief Islamic Justice Mohammad Mheilan and senior civil and military officials (Petra photo)

Jordanians see Bush offer to Iraq as breakthrough towards dialogue, peace

By Sana Atiyeh

Special to the Jordan Times AMMAN - U.S. President George Bush's offer to open direct dialogue with Iraq one day after the Security Council passed a resolution allowing the use of force against Iraq was welcomed by Jordanian officials Friday, stressing that it was a positive step towards finding a peaceful settlement of the Gulf crisis. One senior Jordanian official described Bush's decision as a courageous move towards dialogue rather confrontation.

"Bush's decision to invite the Iraqi foreign minister to Washington and to later send his Secretary of State James Baker to Iraq is a courageous one that complies with world hope for peace," the official told the Jordan Times shortly after the Bush announcement was reported.

He said that His Majesty King Hussein's position since the beginning of the Gulf crisis was becoming a reality and quoted His Royal Highness Crown Prince Hassan's words: "Let there be no embargo on dialogue,"

Another senior official, who also did not want to be identified, welcomed the Bush statement, saying dialogue was what Iraq had been calling for and what the U.S. had been constantly rejecting.

The officials agreed that dialogue between the U.S. and Iraq would benefit both countries and the region through finding a political solution rather than they would through

"This proves that the foundations and objectives of Jordan were correct right from the beginning, particularly our call on the U.S. to hold direct dialogue with the main party in the conflict, Iraq," said another senior official.

Observers say that Irao would be propelled by the Bush decision to eventually withdraw from Kuwait "because President Saddam does not believe in tactics, but has a strategic vision to achieve his primary demands (before the takeover of Kuwait). The culmination will be withdrawal," according to the official, who insisted on anonymity.

The American president's decision was also seen as freeing him of a predicament he placed himself into by preparing for war with his deployment of troops in the Gulf. Earlier in the day, the Security Council Resolution endorsing the use of force against Iraq drew angry and disappointed reaction from official and popular Jordanian and Palestinian personalities, who accused the United States and its allies of closing the door before a peaceful solution to the Gulf crisis.

Taher Al Masri, head of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Lower House of Parliament, said the resolution was regrettable and opened the door for military action.

and consequently destruction and political upheaval," Masri told the Jordan Times. "The Arab people will not telephone interview. terviewed, accused the U.S. and its allies in the U.N. of double standards in the Middle

"The resolution makes me more pessimistic because it brings war closer to the area, stay quiet if the U.S. attacked Iraq," commented Masri in a Masri, along with others in-

Organisation (PLO) also accused the U.S. of using double standards in dealing with Middle East issues. In a statement sent to the Jordan Times from Tunis, Bassam Abu Sharif, senior advisor to PLO leader Yasser Arafat, said that such policy "will have serious and dangerous repercussions in the region and probably all over the world." "Injustice is not tolerated any more. Double standards are not tolerated any more,"

East. "Arabs in general and Palestinians in particular, have al legitimacy," Masri said.

Abu Sharif said. "Double standards in dealing with the Middie East problems will only lead to further frustration in the region, and in no time to a destructive explosion." A senior Jordanian official told the Jordan Times that the new resolution proved that the U.S. "was controlling international legitimacy after the cold

(Continued on page 3)

been waiting for more than two after a message sent by Swedish Prime Minister Ingvar Carlsson decades to enforce internationto Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein The Palestine Liberation earlier this week In his letter, Carisson reportedly criticised Israeli policy against the Arabs and noted that Knwait was not the only occupied territory in the Middle East. Saddam has linked a settlement of the Kuwait crisis to an Israeli withdrawal from the occupied States and its allies have rejected the linkage. A two-member Finnish parliamentary delegation was in Iraq earlier this week to negotiate the Arab territories. The United

release of the Finns. Two Finns remain in Knwait voluntarily and three in Iraq, according to Western diplomats. The Britons on Friday's flight were among a group of 15 whose release was negotiated by British lawmaker Tony Benn.

Benn ended a visit to Iraq Thursday. It was not clear when the other 10 would be allowed to

About 1.300 Britons remain in Kuwait and Iraq.

Does the world want Jordan to vanish?

are opposed to the acquisition

The following article by His Royal Highness Crown Prince Hassan appeared in the Nov. 28 issue of the Christian Science Monitor.

By Hassan Ben Talel

POLITICAL turbulence is hardly unknown in the Middle East, but these past three months have brought storms of catastrophic consequence, par-ticularly to Jordan — a longstanding friend and ally of Western democracies. If Kuwait was the initial focus of Saddam Hussein's actions, Jordan has become the chief victim of the aftermath of that invasion and the world community's extraordinary response to it. And nobody seems to care

Plainly put, our small country of 3.5 million people is on the brink of extinction.

The tragic irony is that precisely because we are complying with United Nations sanctions and embargoes against Iraq, our economy is suffering. Our primary exports of fruits and vegetables have dwindled to a trickle; oncelucrative tourism has practically ended; and development aid from the West, and from our rich Arab brethren, seems to have ceased because of an unfounded perception that Jordan is secretly rooting for Iraq. Jordan is not an apologist for Iraq. We have made it clear to the Baghdad leadership that we of territory by force. We have made it clear that we support international efforts to restore the ousted emir of Kuwait. So what explains the international perception that we are actually a "fifth column" acting on Saddam Hussein's behalf?

I suspect the answer lies in the fact that my elder brother, His Majesty King Hussein, has not added his voice to those clamoring for war against Iraq. Jordan believes that those calling for war do not understand the vast devastation and suffering that further hostilities would bring to our region.

War would unleash hatreds that would extend well beyond the Arab-Israeli syndrome and irreparably hurt Western and American interests in the Islamic world. Jordan believes that Iraq's withdrawal from Kuwait should be unconditional. However, we also believe that for the sake of building a more just order in the region, the underlying causes that led to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait have to be tackled. The possibility of negotiations and of referring boundary disputes to the World Court should not be ruled out.

Jordan also believes that it is morally reprehensible to take hostages. Jordan is party to the U.N. Convention against the taking of hostages and to other treaties against international terrorism.

The point to be emphasised is that Jordan is not critical of the U.N. nor of its resolutions. On the contrary, we regard them as mandatory. What we disagree with are certain policies followed by some of our allies aimed ostensibly at achieving these objectives. In other words, we have no disagreement on the need to restore legitimacy and the rule of international law. But we dissent on the means. Should we be punished for being honest? Though dishonesty would have produced quick pecuniary rewards, we chose to stick to our principles and be truthful with the leaders and people of criminal charges brought against Chancellor Helmut Kohl for failing to help them when they were held in Iraq and Kuwait. The group asked Bonn prosecutors to charge Kohl with failing to fulfil his duty to help them and "robbing them, by omission, of their freedom." They said he had ignored appeals for help and his opposition to a rescue mission by

(Continued on page 3)

CLEANING SERVICES TEL: 684186

and the same time the same and a substitution of the same and the same former Chancellor Willy Brandt had lengthened their time in cap-

After U.N. vote, next Bush challenge is Congress

that U.S. President George Bush has won United Nations support for military action against Iraq. the next hurdle is to persuade Congress that his Gulf policy is Administration officials and congressional leaders have been discussing the merits of recalling Congress, which has adjourned for the Christams recess, for a special session.

Lawmakers could consider a regolution similar to the one approved Thursday by the U.N. Security Council, authorising the use of force if Iraq does not withdraw from Kuwait by Jan.

The president is scheduled to meet congressional leaders on Finday for further discussions on Republican leaders of Congress want a special session, but Democrats and the president have been cool to the idea. "I think the president should

Senator Richard Lugar, an Indiana Republican and senior member of the Foreign Relations

"Clearly the president's choice was to go to the allies who were working with the United States first and to get the United Nations resolution," Lugar said on ABC

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas said there was a 50-50 chance that a special session of Congress would be called to debate Gulf policy be-

Bush commanded solid support for his initial deployment of U.S. troops to defend Saudi Arabia following the Aug. 2 Iraqi inva-

But many Democrats in Congress are concerned that his November decision to send an additional 150,000 troops to join U.S. 230,000 servicemen already in the Gulf is putting the United States on an irreversible path to

THE ENGINE THAT PAYS A LIFETIME BONUS

CATERPILLAR

GENERATOR SETS

50 TO 6560 K.V.A.

COMPLETE PACKAGES WITH

Automatic transfer switches

Automatic or manual paralleling

Sound proof enclosures

.WE OFFER.

"THE CAT SERVICE DIFFERENCE"

Through skilled techincians and high parts availability

SPECIAL SERVICE AND

MAINTENANCE PROGRAMS

Call us now for a free study of your power requirements.

الجسترارات الأردسية

JORDAN TRACTOR

They want more time, as much as 18 months, to give U.N. trade sanctions against Iraq time to Congress could even force the withdrawal of U.S. troops in the Gulf unless it approves their continued deployment.

It is empowered to do so by the war powers resolution, which gives Congress a greater role in military policy when U.S. troops are put in hostile situations. This was passed in 1973 at the height of the controversial Vietnam war. House Speaker Thomas Foley.

a Washington Democrat, and House Republican leader Robert Michel of Illinois told Bush at a private meeting Thursday that they could not guarantee strong support in Congress for a resolution similar to the one adopted by the U.N. Security Council.

Anything less than the solid backing of Congress could undermine the U.S.-led international coalition against Iraq.

Text of resolution on use of force against Iraq

UNITED NATIONS (R) — Following is the text of the resolution the Security Council adopted Thursday which authorises the use of force if Iraq does not withdraw from Kuwait before Jan. 15. The resolution, number 678 (1990), was passed by a vote of 12 for, two against (Cuba and Yemen) and one abstention (China).

The Security Council. RECALLING and reaffirming its resolutions 660 (1990), 661 (1990), 662 (1990), 664 (1990), 665 (1990), 666 (1990), 667 (1990), 669 (1990), 670 (1990), 674 (1990) and 677 (1990),

NOTING that, despite all efforts by the United Nations, Iraq fuses to comply with its obligation to implement Resolution 660 (1990) and the above subsequent relevant resolutions, in flagrant contempt of the council.

MINDFUL of its duties and responsibilities under the Charter of the United Nations for the maintenance and preservation of international peace and security.

DETERMINED to secure full compliance with its decisions. ACTING under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United

1. Demands that Iraq comply fully with Resolution 660 (1990) and all subsequent relevant resolutions and decides, while maintaining all its decisions, to allow Iraq one final opportunity, as a panse of goodwill, to do so; Authorises member states cooperating with the government of Kuwait, unless Iraq on or before 15 Jan. 1991 fully implements, as set forth in paragraph 1 above, the foregoing resolutions, to use all necessary means to uphold and implement Security Council Resolution 660 (1990) and all subsequent relevant resolutions and to restore international peace and security in the area;

3. Requests all states to provide appropriate support for the actions undertaken in pursuance of paragraph 2 of this resolution; 4. Requests the states concerned to keep the council regularly informed on the progress of actions undertaken pursuant to paragraphs 2 and 3 of this resolution; 5. Decides to remain seized of the matter.

Alert called off in Gulf

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (Agencies) - British and American troops in the Gulf have been stood down from a heightened state of alert prompted by fears of an Iraqi attack, a military source said Friday.

The air raid alert was called Thursday, hours before the U.N. Security Council authorised the use of force against Iraq.
"The perception of that extra threat is no longer there," the Sandi-based source, a member of the 27-nation force facing Iraq in the Gulf told Reuters. "It's off," he added.

A report by Britain's Press Association said British commanders had ordered their troops in the Gulf on yellow alret for the first time, one stage down from a full red-alert.

The report said during the alert troops were ordered to carry respirators and suits protecting them against a possible attack from Iraq's chemical arsenal.

The military source said the U.S. put its 240,000 troops in the Gulf on alert and Britain, as part of the multinational force, was obliged to follow suit.

12Resolutions against Iraq since August 12

UNITED NATIONS (R) — The force against Iraq adopted by the Security Council Thurday is the 12th U.N. resolution against Iraq since it invaded Kuwait Aug. 2.

The following is a summary of the resolutions dealing with Iraq. Eleven are on substantive issues and one deals with procedures. The 15-nation body has five permanent members with veto power - the United States, the Soviet Union, China, Britain and France. Its 10 non-permanent members are Canada, Colombia, Cuba, Ethiopia, Finland, Ivory Coast, Malaysia, Romania, Yomen and Zaire.

1. Aug. 2: The Council condemned Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and demanded Baghdad withdraw its forces. The vote for resolution 660 was 14 to 0, with Yemen not participating. 2. Aug. 6: The Council imposed stringent sanctions on all trade to and from Iraq except for medicine, and, in humanitarian circumstances, foodstuffs. The vote was 13-0 with Cuba and Yemen abstaining.

3. Aug. 9: The Council declared Iraq's annexation of Kuwait null and void. The vote

4. Ang. 18: The Council demanded Iraq allow foreign nationals to leave Iraq and Kuwait and rescind its order to close diplomatic missions in Kuwait. The vote was unani-

5. Aug. 25: The Council permitted member states to use limited naval force in the Gulf to ensure compliance with economic sanctions by calling on them to use "measures commensurate to the specific circumstances" to halt maritime shipping in order to inspect cargoes. The vote was 13 to 0 with Cuba and Yemen ab-

6. Sept. 13: The Council approved shipment of food to Iraq and Kuwait in case of humanitarian need but only if it was distributed through the United Nations and similar bodies. It reaffirmed that medicine was not included in the embargo. The vote for resolution 666 was 13 to 2 with Cuba and Yemen voting

7. Spet. 16: The Council conde mned raids by Iraqi troops on French and other diplomatic missions in Kuwait. The vote was

8. Spet. 24: The Council passed unanimously a procedural measure entrusting its Sanctions Committee with evaluating and reporting back to the full Council recommendations on assistant from countries suffering economically from the trade embargo.

9. Sept. 25: The Council prohi-bited all air traffic with Iraq an Kuwait except in humanitaris circumstances and flight approved by a Council Comm. tee on sanctions. It also called (states to detain ships of Irac registry which enter their ports and which are being or have been used in violation of economic sanctions. The vote was 14 to 13 with Cuba voting against.

10. Oct. 29: The Council asked states to document evidence of financial losses and human rights violations resulting from the invasion. The resolution encourages the secretary general to undertake peace efforts but leaves the door open for other unspecified actions if Iraq fails to withdraw. The vote was 13 to 0 with Cuba and Yemen abstaining.

11. Nov. 28: The Council asked the U.N. secretary general to safeguard a smuggled copy of Kuwait's population register in order to foil attempts by Iraq to repopulate the emirate with Iraqis. The vote was unanimous. 12. Nov. 29: If Iraq does not comply by Jan 15, 1991 with previous Council resolutions calling for Iraq's withdrawal from Kuwait. nations are authorised "to use all necessary means" to ensure specifically mention force. 🔷 The vote was 12 for, two (Cuba and Yemen) against and one Rebel assault gains

U.N. vote puts Gulf crisis on war timetable

WASHINGTON - A U.N. Security Council vote authorising the use of force against Iraq if it does not leave Kuwait by mid-January has put the Gulf crisis on a six-week countdown to war, analysts

If Iraq defies this United Nations resolutions as "it has defied the previous 11 passed since it invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2, the United States will not be able to delay attacking it for very long, the analysts

"Although the resolution does not require immediate resort to force, tactically the United States cannot postpone action much beyond the deadline," said Martin Indyk, director of the Washington Institute for Near East Studies. "Any extended delay would allow Iraq to win a major ing it had called the bluff of the U.S. and the entire United Nations," he said. Analysts were divided on how Iraq might react to the resolution. The administration of President George Bush clearly hopes that it will convince Baghdad that its only hope of survival is to withdraw from Kuwait.

But some experts thought Iraq would be more likely to offer a partial concession, such as a withdrawal from the southern half of the emirate while retaining the northern

"I do not believe that we

CAIRO (Agencies) - President

Hosni Mubarak's ruling National

Democratic Party (NDP) headed for an overwhelming majority in parliamentary elections marred

by clashes that left at least three

By Friday evening, unofficial tabulations showed the NDP with 39 seats and independents 26.

Rupoffs next Thursday were declared necessary for 136 seats.

The pareliminary results were distributed by the government's dead and dozens wounded.

leader will send us a letter saying he has now accepted our terms," said former Secretary of State Henry Kis-

"The much more likely result (is) that around the deadline of the U.N. resolution or shortly thereafter, Iraq will offer some sort of negotiation," he told the U.S. Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday. Iraq's strategy would be to drag Washington into a protracted process "in which it can never be shown that success is impossible, but in which at the same time success is never quite reached," Kissin-

NEWS ANALYSIS

Such offers could misfire and may not prevent war. The administration has consistently ected what U.S. Secretary of State James Baker has described as "the siren song of partial solutions," and is aware it cannot maintain its massive military deployment indefinitely.

In the same Senate hearing, General David Jones, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, compared the situation in the Gulf crisis to that of the days preceding the outbreak of World War I in Europe.

"In 1914, the contending powers set in motion a mobilisation and deployment juggernaut that soon achieved a momentum of its own," he

Middle East News Agency

(MENA). It said that Interior

Minister Abdul Halim Mousa will announce the official returns on Security sources said five people were killed and 92 were in-

The worst violence in Thursday's voting was near the Mediterranean port of Damietta,

where police and villagers exchanged gunfire and security

jured in gunbattles and riots during the general elections.

Saturday at noon.

other's growing force levels and troop movements became in itself the rationale for war and the terrible slaughter that followed. There are disturbing parallels as we escalate our force levels in the Middle East," he said.

In a sense, the U.N. vote is a necessary component of Bush's decision earlier this month to send an additional 150,000 troops to Saudi Arabia to build a credible offensive Military experts said they believe Washington will not be able to sustain, supply, train and maintain the morale of such a massive force for very long. It would either have to attack or begin to reduce troop

"The risk is that the prob-lems inherent in maintaining the offensive military option could create irresistible pressures to initiate combat irrespective of ss of the U.N. s tions," said Jones, who headed the U.S. military in the late 1970s and early 1980s. Former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Donald McHenry said the U.N. vote in itself did not give the United States sufficient authority to go to war and was certainly no substitute for a strong domes-

"He (Bush) has got to build up the necessary political consensus to support the use of force, and that consensus will require that he exhaust peaceful measure. It will require that he show that sanctions won't work," he said.

force vehicles were set ablaze, the 63, including two policemen, were hurt when villagers tried to storm voting stations and mark all ballot papers with the name of their favoured candidate, a Nas-

The Nasserite politician, Di-aeddin Daoud, a supporter of

Egypt's late President Gamal

Abdul Nasser, was standing as an

Four people were killed and security sources said.

serite.

Other French sources said rebel leader Idriss Deby's forces were moving steadily westwards, away from the border with Sudan and towards the capital, ent would be sent to N'djamena. assuring, if need be, the protection of our nationals."

There are an estimated 1,250

strength in Chad France already had '1,000'

PARIS (AP) - A rebei offensive in Chad is gaining strength, French officials said Thursday. The government ordered 150 foreign legionnaires to reinforce French troops already in Chad, but said they would not join the Chad's government contends the rebels are backed bsy Libya, a view endorsed this week by the U.S. State Department.

France has described the threeweek-old war as an internal conflict between Chadians. Libya, which denies backing the rebels, accused the United States of 'premeditated hostile inten-

A French Foreign Ministry spokesman, speaking on the condition of anonymity, said Thursday that "the situation is worsening, and the battles are more severe." He said the rebel offensive has grown in size, "and government forces are encountering difficulties on the ground."

N'diamena.

The French Defence Ministry said a 150-strong company of the second foreign parachutist regim-The move was aimed at "bettering the security of our troops and French civilians in Chad, a former French colony.

Proops in Chad, and recently shifted a company from N'djamena to the northeastern town of Abeche near the main combat Defence Minister Jean-Pierre, Chevenement said France wa studying requests from Chad for arms, but gave no indication what the response would be.

He said French policy was to avoid defending governments against internal opposition, even in the case of a government which France might help in the event of external aggression. France has said that President Hissene Habre's troops suffered consider able losses in the recent fighting The two sides have claimed take and retake several easte towns, but neither has offere

By Jordan billion traditic Kuwan Sauo and od

both Ir.

lor

casualty figures. Habre visited the war zone last week and, according to some accounts, narrowly escaped the hands of the rebels. Habre was seen on Chad TV Wednesday welcoming a foreign dignitary to N'djamena.

Deby helped Habre take power in 1982 and formerly was a military adviser to the president, but fied in April 1989 amidst allegations he was part of a coup plot.

France sent thousands of troops to Chad in February 1986 at the height of fighting in north ern Chad against Libyan-backed rebels. Libya then occupied the northern part of the poor, landlocked country, but was chased out in a series of battles in 1987.

JORDAN TELEVISION Tel 73111-19

PROGRAMME ONE 15:49 15:49 15:45 Nows in Araby Programme : eview hers in Arabi PROGRAMME TWO 29-00 20-36 ... News in Arabi Feature film. "A Marriage of News in English Continuation of the film PRAYER TIMES

CHURCHES
5t, Mary of Nazareth Church Swettle Tel: 810740 Assemblies of God Church, To	=
St. Joseph Church Tel. 524590 Church of the Ausunciation Te 637440	c
De in Saile Church Tel. 661757 Terranusta Church Tel: 622366
Cherch of the Annunciation To 623541
Anglican Charch Tol. 625383, To 628543.
Armenias Catholic Church To 771331. Armenias Orthodox Church To
775261. St. Ephraim Church Tel. 771751.	•
America International Church To 685326.	•
Evangelical Latheran Church Te 811295	2
The Church of Jesus Christ of Latte Day Suists Tel. 815817, 654932

St. Mary of Nazareth Church Swelfieb.
Assemblies of God Church, Tel.
632785
St. Joseph Church Tel. 524590 Church of the Aspendiation Tel 637440
De la Salle Church Tel. 661757
Terraneuta Church Tei: 0.22366
Cherch of the Annunciation Tel.
Anglican Clearch Tel. 625383, Tel 628543.
Armenias Catholic Church Tel. 771331.
Armeniau Orthodox Church Tel. 77526:
St. Ephrains Church Tel. 771751.
America International Church Tel.
645326.
Evangelical Latherna Church Tel:
811295
The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Tcl. 815817, 654932

WEATHER

Balletin supplied by the Department of Meteorology.
it will be partly cloudy and winds will be southeasterly moderate, be- coming in the afternoon southwesterly

Amazan	_
Aqaba
Deserts
Jordan Valley	15
Vertexale 1: 1: 1: 1
Yesterday's high temperature man 20. Aqaba 29. Humidity r	21: /
Amman 53 per cent, Agaba	~
out.	-
USEFUL TELEPH	DN
NUMBERS
NIGHT DUTY
AMMAN:

USEFUL TELEPHONE	Civil Defence Emergency
NUMBERS	Rescae Police 192_621111, 63
NIGHT DITTY	Fire Brigade
NIGHT DUTY	Biood Bank 77
AMMAN:	Hagt way Police
	Traffic Police
Dr. Bassem Karadsheh 796200	Public Security Department
Dr. Hamdi Al Zarasqı 783708	Fiotel Complaints
Dr. Majed Abu Spergeh 881635	Price Complaints
Dr Farouq Nour 786680	Water and Sewerage
First pharmacy	Completes
Fordows pharmacy	Areman Musicipality Complaints
Al Asema pharmacy 637055	Complaints 78
Nairoukh pharmacy 623672	Telephone information
Al Salam pharmacy 636730	(directory assistance)
Yacoub pharmacy	Overseas Calls 010
Shincisani pharmacy 637660	Central Assuran Telephone
	•

IRBID: Dr. Abdul Al Staras

ZAROA

Majid Sabahin ,()	Repairs
pharmacy (985238)	Jordan Television
Al Tarifi () barmacy 985417	Water Authority
RERGENCIES	Company
rol Cestre 657111	HOSPITALS

JORDAN TIMES DAILY GUIDE AND CALENDAR

Mubarak's party heads for

Gvil Defence Depart

630341	Hussein Medical Centre 813813/32
Emergency 191	Khalidi Maternity, J. Amn 644281/6
192_621111,637777	Akileh Maternaty, J. Ann 642441/2
891228	Jabal Amman Materiaty 642362
775121	Malban I Lawrence Later
ž	Malhas J. Amman
	Palestine, Shmeisani 664171/4
	Somessen Hospital 660131
Cepartment 630321	CULTURALLY HOSPICAL STEETS
ints 605800	Al-Mussher Hospital 667227/9
zts 661176	The Islams, Abdali 666127/37
- WETERE	Al-Abii. Abdati 664164/6
897467	Traban 41 54 5
997467 kdpality	Itahan, Al-Muhajreen 777101/3
787111	Al-Bashir, J. Ashrafieh 775111/26
formation	Army, Marks
	Upecs Alia Hospital 607740/50
Kistance) 121	Amal Hospital
010230	ZAROA:
an Telephone	Zarqa Govt. Hospital (09)983323

Zarqa National Hospital	(09)99
Iba Sina Hospital	(09)98
Princess Basma Hospital	(01)22
Greek Catholic Hospital Ibn Al Nafors Hospital	(02)27
Ton Al Nafocs Hospital	(02)24
AQABA:	ARRIVA
Princes Haya Hospital	(wysi

FOR THE TRAVELLER QUEEN ALIA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

This information is supplied by Royal Jordanian (RJ) information department at the Queen Alia International Airport Tel. (08)53200-5, where it should always be verified.

oy	evals ni Jordan minal 1)	rien (i	RJ) FIL	gh
:45 -46	Singapore,	Kuala T	Lumpar	(1 03:30 Madrid (R.

19:39
Other Flights (Terminal 2)
13:20 Cairo (MS
13:25 Rivacta (SI
14:35 Abu Dhahr, Rahrain (CI 17:30 Dubai, Damasons (El

loya	ARTURES I Jordanian (RJ) Flight ninal 1) 0:00 1:40 2:00 2:15

	. · A L	~
11-49	Aqaba	(KI)
	17POB	(IUI
4.77	Victoria Francisco	mn
جديما	Allisterdam New York	m
17.45		(L)
-	Madrid	RU
13:00	London	7
12-16		w
		ŒŊ
L3:45	Geneva, Brussels	ዀ፞ጚ
71.10		w
	Jeddah	RN
4.7	Assessment Bahrain Dake	'nκ
71.48	Abe Dhabi, Dubai	∖∼ν
	room named ' Dispat	(RJ)
443	Martine Color	'nπ
27- 4 0		w
	Doba	ເຂກ
Othe	r Flights (Terminal
	Arres (1 #41DRIM	2)
		-

Other	Flights	(Ter	min	إه
69: 15		Parent I	Bein	at (

14:00
MARKET PRICES
Upper/lower price in fils per kg.
Spinach 2007 150 Tomatoes 150 / 108

lar bodies. It dicine was not mbargo. The 666 was 13 to 2 remen voting

Council condeaqi troops on iplomatic mis-The vote was Council passed xedural meaits Sanctions valuating and ne full Council on assistati fering econ ade embarg Council prot with Iraq at humanitaris and fligh mcil Comm also called (hips of Irac or their ports of economic : was 14 to 1 gainst. Council asked evidence of human rights al to under. out leaves the r unspecified to withdray 0 with Cula Council asker general b 1 register a ts by Iraq s ate with is ananimon raq does us 1991 w olutions & drawai fit

e authoric

/ means t

ention for

, two (Ctal

st and a rom the inva-

n encourages

18 had 'IR and recei

Ern town nain com Jean-Pia France 76 om Chadla lication what be.

om N'diz-

olicy was to overnments / osition, even nment which the event of France has nt Hissene ed considerent fightin claimed eral easte! has offere

var zone jast

ng to some escaped th

Habre wa

Wednesday

dignitary to take power was a militesident, but nidst allegaa coup plot. yusands of bruary 1986 ng in northyan-hacked ocupied the poor. landwas chased les in 1987.

ahrain (GF) Cairo (MS) Riyadh (SV) Paris (AF) ICES

Suheimat says not enough shelters

By Elia Nasrallah

Jordan Times Staff Reporter

AMMAN - In the event of air raids or other types of warfare Amman inhabitants can only hope to find shelters by themselves since no proper public shelters exist in the Amman region, according to Amman Mayor Ali Subcimat.

"It is true that there was some interest in providing shelters after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, but plans for creating them have long been dropped and no proper shelters exist in an emergency," the mayor said at a press gathering

Subelmat, who has only been mayor for a little more than a year, said that although the municipality's financial situation was good at the moment no vast sums could be spared within short notice for the construction of shelters as money was needed to spend on public and municipal

He said that a development scheme for downtown Amman had to be shelved for not being so urgent on the one hand, and for being bound to cost the municipality more than JD 5.2 million on the other.

The project, endorsed by the Council of Ministers and the municipal council under the previous mayor, had envisaged pulling down buildings in the central parts of the capital to make way for wider streets and to allow for pedestrian zones and reduce the traffic congestion.

"The municipality will soon announce its 1991 budget, but I can say that the municipal council has nearly JD 5 million in cash flow which is being utilised for essential services and the payment of salaries, compensations, and financing pressing schemes, the mayor said.

The mayor pointed out that since taking office he had been maintaining an open-door policy, listening to all complaints and taking into account all criticism, the press levelled against the municipality, with the purpose of redressing situations or dealing with grievances.

He said he was looking forward to a greater measure of cooperation with the media about which he said it was helping the municipality to know more about public

Subeimat said that future plans were contemplated for giving municipal departments in the suburbs of the Greater Amman region more authority and further

He said that he was looking forward to the day when these departments would become autonomous municipal councils elected by the local people.

Once appointed the local councils can select their representatives at the central municipal council in Amman which now groups 51 people appointed by the government, including heads of departments with direct links with Amman Municipality,

Jordanian experts, U.S. panel to discuss via satellite

Mulki, president of the Royal Scientific Society, and Dr. Abduliah Tougan, secretary general of the Higher Council for Science and Technology, will exchange ideas with colleagues in Cairo and the United States on "Government Support for Science and Technology," via satellite at the American Cultural Centre.

Wednesday, December 5.
The dialogue will focus on government support for private research institutions; the develop-ment of "research triangles" which link universities and businesses; projects receiving

AMMAN (J.T.) — Dr. Hani government support; and the incentives governments provide institutions engaged in training en-

> The two American panelists are: Dr. Don Phillips, executive director of the Government-University-Industry Research Roundtable, which is sponsored by the National Academy of Sciences, National Academy of Engineering, and the lastitute of Medicine; and Dr. John Alic, senior associate for Industry, Technology and Employment programmes for the Office of Technology Assessment of the U.S. Congress.

Crown Prince

(Continued from page 1) the West.

Do these leaders and their publics realise the extent of Jordan's deteriorating condi-

By the end of this year, Jordan will lose more than $1 billion in revenue because our traditional markets in Iraq and Knwait have been closed.

Saudi Arabia, our neighbour and other major market, could have come to our rescue by compensating Jordan for the loss of Iraqi oil and trade with both Iraq and Kuwait. But the Saudis, perhaps out of genuine, if gross, misguidance, see Jordan as an apologist for Iraq.

They have shunned us. Moreover, the Gulf crisis has resulted in the return to Jordan of hundreds of thousands of skilled Jordanians and Palestinians who worked in Saudi Arabia and Kuwait. This has meant a loss of almost $350 million in repatriated revenue to Jordan, and this also means that our government will now have to spend more than $300 million in providing unanticipated social services. How does Jordan still survive? Only with great difficulty. More than $185 million in economic assistance that Jordan received annually from Iraq and Kuwait has disappeared. Yes, we still import oil from Iraq for domestic consumption. Fortunately, we are not required to pay for this oil since Baghdad permits Jordan to credit these imports against Iraq's $310 million debt to Jordan at a rate of $16 a barrel. With our declining revenues and with evaporating foreign aid, the economic future for this nation — once given the prospect of becoming the "Singapore of the Middle East" - is bleak. Jordan's cash reserves are now estimated at barely $175 million. (Yet, we will require about $500 million by the end of this year to merely service our foreign debt of $8.4 billion). Does the world really want Jordan to disappear?

Jordanians

(Continued from page 1)

"We were hoping that the U.N. would take the place of the Soviet Union, which maintained the balance from the East. But unfortunately, this resolution has endorsed the U.S. role in international policing," said the official, who preferred anonymity.

Upper House of Parliament Ahmad Ai Lawzi told the Jordan News Agency, Petra that the resolution allows "for shedding Arab blood and aims at destroying humanity."

"The resolutions passed against Iraq are not based on international legitimacy or serving justice and peace, but to create a cloak for aggression siming at (U.S.) hegemony on Arab land," Lawzi was quoted as saying. He also accused the U.S. and its allies of using double standards in the Middle East, saying the U.S. has allowed Israel to continue its "state terrorism against Palestinians." Prominent human rights lawyer Ibrahim Baker also accused the U.S. and its allies of double standards, saying they have given most of their attention to the Gulf crisis "without the least bit of focus on the Palestinian plight and the humanitarian international law as provided in the Geneva Con-

Baker described the resolution as "an ideal example of the model savagery represented by the hegemony of American imperialism in the so-called new world order under the cloak of international legality, which is contrary to international legality as exemplified by the devious attitudes of the American administration in dealing with the draft resolution concerning the plight of Palestinians under Israeli occupation."

Muslim Brotherhood Deputy Abdul Mun'em Abu Zant warned that if "Iraq is touched, it is the duty of the Arab and Muslim world from East to West to remain in one camp' against U.S. aggression on the Arab country.

"Unfortunately, the Security Council is influenced by the expansionist U.S. to the point of bribery before the resolution was passed, starting with the Soviet Union, which was bribed with $4 billion from Saudi Arabia," Abn Zant asserted.

Speaker of the Upper House of Parliament Ahmad Al Lawzi Thursday holds talks with a delegation representing the World Peace Council (Petra photo)

World Peace Council delegation praises Jordan's peace efforts

AMMAN (Petra) — A delega-tion representing the World Peace Council paid a brief visit to Jordan Thursday and met several government officials and the speakers of the Senate and the Lower House of Parliament to discuss Middle East issues.

Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Marwan Al Qasem voiced Jordan's official stand with regard to the Gulf crisis and presented the current efforts being exerted by the Kingdom seeking a just solution to the

The Senate Speaker Ahmad Al

just and permanent solution for Middle East issues. "Jordan is seeking peace for the region while the United States continues to beat the drums of war and is not dealing with the Palestine and the Gulf issues on equal terms,"

Referring to recent Israeli stated policies, Lawzi said that Shamir's statement on retaining the Arab lands has exposed Israel's real intentions with regard to the creation of the socalled greater Israel, extending Mediterranean Sea.

The World Peace Council delegation later met with Speaker of the Lower House of Parliament Abdul Latif Arabiyat and discussed prospects for peace in the Gulf. "Jordan is looking forward to a just, peaceful settlement for the Gulf issue, but the Kingdom is being faced with hostile attitudes because of its quest for peace," Arabiyat said.

The head of the delegation expressed appreciation to Jordan for its peace endeavours.

Christian Peacemaker Teams pledge continued peace mission

By Serene Halasa

Special to the Jordan Times AMMAN — Twelve members of the Christian Peacemaker Teams (CPT) of the Mennonite and Brethren churches from the United States and Canada, have ended a week-long visit to Iraq, an effort fit which better maderstanding between the Iraqi people and the world, and to spread the seed of peace in this part of the region." "Our purpose is to relay our (American and Canadian peoto explore with the government officials avenues for a negotiated settlement of this crisis," the leader of the group, Gene Stoltzfus, told the Jordan Times in Amman Friday.

The team, made up of three Canadians and nine Americans, is part of a peacemaking team among the 2,500 congregations of Mennonite churches, Church of the Brethren and Brethren in Christ churches in North America. These congregations have a 450-year history of opposing war and institutional injustice. This group is represented in Jordan through the Mennonite Central Committee, located in Jabel Luweibdeh; operating in this country since the late 1950s. Before taking off from the United States on Nov. 21, the peacemaker team railied for support of their mission in the United States. Stoltzfus said that this had led to his and many other peoples' arrests, during a peace de-monstration held in front of the Lawry Air Force base in Denver, Colorado. The base, Stoltzfus explained, is the financier of the Pentagon's military operations. which, he said, is basically 'American tax payers' monev. Stoltzfus met with an official at the base and asked him to send a can of infant formula he was holding to Iraq. The official had them arrested and removed off the premises. "When we first decided to go to fraq, there was a lot of fear. Now I believe we are faced with another kind of drama and fear and that is to communicate a new message to people back home about Iraq and its people," he said. He also added that the Iraqis were very open and welcoming to the delegation and showed no hostilities towards them. "Our hearts are filled with the Iraqi people," Stoltzfus said. The team flew to Amman from Baghdad Thursday. Although the team was not successful in ensuring the release of American or other foreign nationals held in Iraq, Stoltzfus said: "Our basic mission was to promote peace not to ensure the release of any hostages." The team also carried $12,000 worth of medical supply to Iraq. "Although this is not a great contribution, we feel that it is much needed," he said. Asked about the situation inside Iraq, and about the reported shortages of food and medicine, Stoltzfus said that he felt there were shortages in infant formulas, medicated milk, medicine, flour and sugar, "but by no means are the shortages close to an emergency point," he added.

team talked to many Iraqis who expressed a shared sentiment of dissatisfaction with world politics and international condemnation. "The sentiment among Iragis is whatever the cost, we are not going to back down," Gwen White, a member of the peacemaker team said. "There is also a very strong sense of Arab identity and nationalism and a total rejection to Western intervention," she added.

During their stay in Iraq, the White also said that during her conversations with many Iraqis she did not sense Iraqis feared war. "There is an incredible outpouring of support for Saddam Hussein," she said.

Answering a question about the Iraqi people's reaction to the latest United Nations resolution authorising the use of force against Iraq if it does not withdraw from Kuwait, White said: They (Iraqi people) knew the resolution was coming; they are no longer shocked by the inequality and double standard treat-

According to Stoltzfus, the team will go back and work very actively in trying to relay their message of peace. "We will work through the media, communicate our concern to Congress and the State Department, and work through an active form of struggle," he said. "What is the active form of struggie? Stoltzfus was asked. "It's the mobilisation of large groups of people, and their involvement in direct and creative action, symbolic of a non-violent movement," he answered.

Bush invites

(Continued from page 1)

series of witnesses who underscored doubts among Democratic senators. Cheney and Powell are slated to testify next week. And Baker said Friday morning that he also would testify.

Odom stressed in his testimony that he supports Bush's buildup in the Gulf, but said he was bewildered by the administration's apparent impatience with the results to date.

"I am puzzled by the administration's failure to take credit for its succes on this slow route to its objectives," said Odom, joining others in urging that economic sanctions be given more time.

"Some of the administration's rhetoric makes it sound as though we are losing. That is clearly not true," said Odom. "The weight in favour of...

holding our present defensive position in Saudi Arabia seems to be quite large," he said. "Early military action to push

Iraqi forces from Kuwait is certainly within our means," he said. "If it involves only expelling those forces from "Kuwait without further action to destroy the bulk of those forces in Iraq, it will not remove the military threat from Saudi Arabia, and we will face an indefinite period of occupation of Kuwait."

Earlier Friday, Iraq rejected the Security Council ultimatum and vowed to teach the United States and its allies a "hard lesson, unprecedented in history, in the event of war. Bachdad Radio interrupted regular programming to broadcast an announcement by the Revolutionary Command Council after an overnight session under the chairmanship of President Şaddam.

The council said the 12-2 vote endorsing the use of force resolution against Iraq if it does not leave Kuwait by Jan. 15 was "illegal, muli and void" because it was imposed by the United

"It is disgraceful and tarnishes with shame the nations which: helped issue it," said the state-

The statement branded the U.N. document as "an American resolution from start to finish" and accused Washington of bribing and pressurising council members to vote in favour.

"Money was paid to a number of governments of Security Council members and immense pressure was put on them from the president of the United States of America and his secretary of state." the statement said. It made no mention of withdrawal from Kuwait and told the U.S. and its allies in a multinational force massed in Saudi Arabia and other Gulf Arab states they faced defeat if they went to war against Iraq.

"In the heat of battle, Iraq will wipe out the dwarves who are supporting America, especially the treacherous Fahd regime (in Saudi Arabia)," the statement There was no sign on the streets of Baghdad Friday that Iraq was increasing war prepara-

Saddam declared on Thursday night, a few hours before the resolution was passed, that Iraq wanted peace. "We ask Allah to spare the human race the perils of war, but if fighting is imposed on us, we shall fight in a way that will make us and Arabs hold our heads high," he said.

Friday's statement repeated Iraq's insistence, first announced 10 days after the invasion of Kuwait, that any talks on Kuwait must be linked to other Middle East issues.

Before the Security Council session, Saddam said Iraq would not be intimidated by a resolution authorising military action against it. He said the Iraqi armed forces had the technology to defeat sophisticated American weapons, like the Stealth fighter

On the fourth anniversary:

Muslim Brotherhood rallies in support of intifada

By Abdullah Hasanat Jordan Times Staff Reporter

AMMAN — A Muslim Brotherbood rally in solidarity with the Palestinian intifada Friday turned into one of support for Hamas the Islamic resistance movement in the West Bank and Gaza.

Hundreds of people massed at the gates and on the grounds around the fully-packed Palace of Culture, half of them veiled women, half bearded men and a few stranded journalists.

Posters and memorabilia of Hamas were sold at many stands around the palace. The audience listened attentively to enthusiastic Islamist speakers, only occasionally interrupted by Hamas slogans, calls for jihad and chanting for Allahu Akbar.

Speakers included the Brotherhood leader, Dr. Mohammad Abdul Rahman Khalifah, Hamas leader Ibrahim Ghosheh, Brotherhood Parliament Deputy Hammam Said, University of Jordan Professor Ahmad Nawfal, and Shawkat Kazan, a representative of the Turkish Muslim Party (Al Rafah).

The speakers praised Hamas and its leadership of the intifada, attacked the Zionists and the Western colonialists, but completely ignored the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO). "Our people in Palestine are waging a battle with their own blood, with their children mained and their homes destroved." Hammam Said said. He said that borders between Arabs must be eliminated and "the Jewish body must be re-

Kazan said that Hamas was facing the Zionist movement that controls the whole world and is Islam's most avowed enemy" and called on Muslims the world over to support the movement.

Kazan reviewed the history of the Ottoman empire in defence of Islam and vowed that "Turkey will throw the Americans out" when his party takes power in that country.

Kazan called for the formation of a united Muslim nations organisation instead of the "American Zionist U.N." "Muslims should enter into joint defence pacts, then America will find no foothold in the lands of Arabs and Muslims," he said. "The drums of war and the Security Council resolutions-should not scare us," he said, "it is only a fulfilment of the prophecy of Prophet Mohammad that we shall fight the Jews in Palestine until stones and trees tell Muslims that Jews are hiding behind them.'

While children played under the watchful eyes of their mothers in the clear and cool afternoon. Dr. Ahmad Nawfal praised the martyrs of the intifada, the Jordanian and Arab fighters and blasted at Arab leaders aligned with the U.S. in the Gulf crisis.

Nawfal strongly criticised Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak and accused him of "dragging Egypt into the mud of humiliation and slavery."

He did not spare Syria and called on its people to "lift the country's head from the mud." He blasted Saudi Arabia and called on the Saudi people to think of what "half a million colonial soldiers" are doing in the Arabian peninsula,

"They bought Russia, which they used to call atheist, with $4 billion and cut the oil from Jordan for $40 million, while Sudanese die of famine," he said referring to last week's Saudi loan to the Soviet Union and last month's Saudi decision to cut oil supplies to Jordan.

Nawfal indirectly criticised Iraq for its alleged treatment of Kuwaitis. "We are pained by the situation of Kuwaiti people, we are with the Kuwaiti people, but not with the Kuwaiti regime," he stressed.

Without mentioning the Iraqi leadership, he said that Jordan was ready to "sacrifice the last man in defence of Iraq" and called on the Iraqi people not to fail Arabs and Muslims and succumb to invaders. He called on Iraqis to "purify their souls and to lift injustice."

Without mentioning Kuwait he addressed the Iraqis: "We do not agree that people be harmed." He said that the new world order was being dominated by the U.S. after "the Soviet Union disintegrated to hell" and that the confrontation now was between the West and Islam.

The Muslim Brotherhood rally on Friday is the first activity in week-long celebrations commemorating the fourth falls on Dec. 8.

The celebrations include daily songs praising the intifada, a book exhibition, screening of intifada films, and stands for selling intifada posters and memorabilia.

Romania marks national day

By Ica Wahbeh

Jordan Times Staff Reporter

AMMAN — The Romanian Ambassador to Jordan Thursday praised Jordanian-Romanian reations which he said were based on mutual respect and under-

In a press conference on the eve of his country's national day, which falls on Saturday, Dec. 1, Ambassador Dimitrie: Stanescu said the event carried a double significance this year: "It is the first time Romania celebrates its national day on this important date, and it coincides with the tion with Jordan in the economic, scientific and cultural fields." The date marks the union of Transylvania (a province in the of the country, an event which,

according to the ambassador: "symbolises the end of a long historical process which started the ephemeral union of the three principalities (Moldavia, Valachia and Transylvania in 1600 under the rule of Michael the Brave), passed through a tumultuous history of occupation and struggle for independence, and culminated with the union of 1918, expressing the Romanian people's unanimity of

"Our friendship is a long stand ing, traditional one," said the ambassador. "As good friends we signing of a protocol of coopera- are used to celebrate the occasions of our national days together. As you know, a few months ago (25 May) Romania marked Jordan's national day. north of the country) with the rest This year, our celebration is special: it takes palce in a climate of union.

freedom and democracy brought by the overhtrow of the Ceausescu dictatorship."

According to the ambassador, Transylvania's union with the rest of the country ensured the natural national statal framework for the Romanian people's assertion and democratic development, alongside with the national minorities in Romania and other modern nations in the world.

"These aspirations have again will, the overwhelming wish for become possible in the atmosphere entrenched after the toppling of the communist did torship in December 1989 and the elections of 20 May 1990 which will allow the country to follow the democratic path of market economy, respect for the human rights, creating a new order and obtaining international recognition as a dignified, free nation,' added the ambassador.

Municipality to better service the outskirts

AMMAN (Petra) - Greater Amman Mayor Ali Suheimat Thursday said the municipality would focus more attention on densely populated areas of the Amman Governorate and would make use of a budget saving, ranging between JD 4 and JD 5 million in the municipality's

At a meeting with media repre-sentatives, Suheimat pointed out that the percentage of Jordanian labour force working in various municipality departments was 100 per cent, except for the sanitation budget.

Subeimat said that the municipality applied an open door policy in dealing with citizens, "in a bid to achieve a further degree of interaction and to ensure better and balanced services to all citizens." He added that there were several ways of running services in the outskirts of Greater Amman, such as distributing areas to a number of municipalities, each supervised by an elected council grouping representatives of institutions concerned with municipal work.

These council would perform duties similar to those of municipal councils, while the responsibility for planning, supervision, followup and implementation would be vested in a central council or the Municipal Council, according to

Surgeons hold meeting

AMMAN (Petra) - The Jordanian Medical Association (IMA) has organised a two-day Jordanian surgeons' conference under the theme "Surgery in Wars and Accidents," the conference was attended by 150 Jordanian specialists from the private and the public sectors.

Nearly 20 working papers dealing with a range of topics like injuries during wars and injuries

due to road accidents were reviewed by the conference which was held on Thursday and Friday. Addressing the opening session, JMA President Mamdouh Al Abbadi said that the surgeons' conference coincided with the danger of war in the Middle East as a result of America's lust for bloodshed and for imposing its hegemony on the region."

CHRISTMAS PROMOTION

BANI HAMIDA HOUSE THE

Jabal Amman/1st Circle

December 1-24/1990 8 a.m.-6 p.m. (Except Fridays)

Get a gift with any 100 Jordan Dinars purchase 20% discount on a selection of rugs Gift Certificates are available

For more information, please call 658696/7

Chairman of the Board of Directors: MAHMOUD AL KAYED

Director General:

MOHAMMAD AMAD Editor-in-Chief:

GEORGE S. HAWATMEH

Editorial and advertising offices:

Jordan Press Foundation,

University Road, P.O. Box 6710, Amman, Jordan.

Telephones: 667171/6, 670141-4 Telex: 21497 ALRAI JO Facsimile: 661242

The Jordan Times is published daily except Fridays. Subscription and advertising rates are available from the Jordan Times advertising department.

At last, a breakthrough

U.S. PRESIDENT George Bush's offer to receive the Iraqi foreign minister and to send his secretary of state to Baghdad is the breakthrough that the world has needed all along to solve the Gulf crisis. Without such a courageous and historic decision taken by the U.S. president, there would have been but one way to go: devastating war and destruction and lasting instability and violence in this part of the world, especially in the aftermath of the adoption of Resolution 678 by the U.N. Security Council.

Right from the beginning, Baghdad insisted that it was ready for dialogue with the Americans and the Saudi Arabians in order to reach a political solution to the problem of Kuwait. Furthermore, President Saddam has stated very clearly that he is ready and willing to discuss all aspects of the Gulf situation, which also means withdrawal from Kuwait. But what the Iraqis would have never accepted is to leave in humiliation, without even the right to be heard by the countries of the alliance arrayed against them, let alone assurances against the destruction of their country under all other

Fortunately, reason seems to have prevailed, and we now have a situation where the antagonists can sit together to try and hammer out a formula acceptable for everybody and satisfactory to all. And this is in essence what Jordan has always worked for and persisted in its efforts to achieve. Much work needs to be done of course in order to ensure that President Bush's step towards peace does not turn into a futile political exercise. But there is no question that Iraq will reciprocate the offer with all the goodwill needed to make progress — and quickly — towards not only solving the Gulf crisis but also tackling the range of other problems in the region on top of which lies the

The Bush administration, for its part, needs to do its share to understand more deeply the frustrations and aspirations of Arabs and to do what is necessary to address them. We are a nation that yearns for peace. provided it is just, and friendship with other peoples and nations, as long as it is based on mutual respect and interests. Nobody amongst us wants to continue to live in strife and struggle, and we certainly do not need to add to the list of our enemies.

By his offer, Mr. Bush has pushed the door wide open for himself to enter history as a great U.S. president. He will only be great if there is a political solution to the Gulf crisis.

ARABIC PRESS COMMENTARIES

ON the anniversary of international solidarity with the Palestinian people His Majesty King Hussein chose to draw the world community's attention to the major challenge it is facing now in Palestine due to Israel's atrocities there and the need for the establishment of peace based on justice. Al Ra'i daily said. The paper echoed the King's call for the U.N. Security Council to deal with world issues on equal footing, and noted that the world organisation had failed in implementing its own resolutions concerning the Palestine question over the past 23 years. The paper noted also that the United Nations is displaying unusual enthusiasm towards implementing Security Council resolutions concerning the Gulf issue, but ignoring the Palestine issue and the sufferings of the Palestinian people due to the continued Israeli occupation. Failure to implement international legitimacy on equal footing and with fairness and justice, the paper said, is bound to cost the U.N. organisation its own credibility and its own existence. If the world is to have a new order, it won't be able to exist in an atmosphere that lacks the rudiments of justice and peace; and the end of the cold war would mean nothing to mankind if it was only to serve the interests of the two super powers, the paper continued. Should the Middle East remain open to all forms of terrorism and American hegemony, said the paper, the region would sooner or later be transformed into explosive spot that would cause the obliteration of millions of

A columnist in Al Ra'i daily launches bitter criticism of Saudi Arabia for bribing the Soviet Union with $4 billion to ensure its vote at the Security Council in support of Washington's quest for an authorisation to use force against Iraq in the Gulf. Tareq Massarweh says that votes at the Security Council were bought with money paid by selfish parties to the major powers which are pretending to be bankrupt awaiting someone to dole out to them sums of money to secure their support. China for its part has kept silent and there is no doubt that the Saudis had their eyes on Peking and have contemplating making a similar move there, says the writer. The major powers are gaining a lot of money by exploiting their votes at the Security Council on the one hand, and by leasing their armed forces to serve as mercenary forces on the other; but the non-aligned nations and the poor countries of the world are left to pay for the high prices of oil so that they will be poorer as the rich become richer, says the writer. The writer is critical of the so-called new world order which is being founded on deceit and underhand dealings while the drums of war continue to beat, opening the way for more sufferings for the poor nations which are being crushed under the heels of the new imperialist forces. The writer says that all the honorable people of the world have no choice but to take up arms and fight in defence of their existence and their dignity.

The arguments for and against democracy in the Middle East and even in Iraq

The Gulf crisis has intensified the debate on political freedoms in the Arab World. Jordan Times Staff Reporter Lamis K. Andoni talked to analysts and political activists in Amman and Baghdad who argue that the struggle for Arab independence and unity in the current crisis and should not be waged at the expense of democratisation in the Arab World, including in

IN ITS quest to mobilise public opinion against frag, the U.S. has often cited the state of political freedoms in the country to justify tough political. steps against Baghdad. The American tactic has prompted many Arab intellectuals to resent any criticism, at this stage. of the Iraqi political system.

But there are indications that inside and outside Iraq there is an emerging trend to argue that liberalisation of the system — to an extent allowed by the state of war and siege that the country is under could be crucial to the result of the current confrontation with

Advocates of this line of thinking, however, stress that the struggle to counter the international blockade against Iraq and to avert a military action should be given priority. A number of intellectuals interviewed in Iraq — and in Jordan — argue that the nationalist struggle should no longer justify repression.

"In the history of the Arab and Third World, repression was often justified by one national cause or another. This argument has proved to be wrong in many cases but we have not learned," said an Iraqi novelist.

He, as well as other Iraqi, Jordanian and Palestinian intellectuals, argues that in the case of the Arab World absence of democracy has contributed to deepening subservience of the Arab order to the West. An example often cited in Iraq and Jordan is the experience of the late Egyptian president, Jamal Abdul Nas-

Like Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, Nasser challenged Western interests in the Arab World emerging as a national-ist hero. Both Abdul Nasser and now Saddam incurred Western wrath that amounted to calls, if not attempts, for their physical elimination.

But now some historians and writers believe that Nasser's Achilles' heel, despite his tremendous popular appeal, was his failure to recognise the role of political freedoms and pluralism in consolidating the revolutionary nationalist base

'We used to demonstrate in favour of Abdul Nasser in this street," said an Iraqi artist in his mid-fifties on Al Rashid street, in downtown Baghdad. We supported his nationalist struggle but we were oblivious to repression in Egypt."

According to this argument repeated by some political activists in Jordan, repression in Egypt eventually backlashed against Nasser's nationalist slogans and ideals giving the way for the emergence and dominance of President Anwar Sadat's pro U.S. policies.

The collapse of Communism

in Eastern Europe and the surfacing of rightist and even racist trends and movements are also cited as yet another example of setbacks suffered by egalitarian principles as a reaction to long years of rep-

Many staunch supporters of Iraq, however, reject these arguments by countering that such a debate would only serve the American campaign. "No voice should be louder than that of the nationalist battle," is the current slogan raised in Jordan and elsewhere in defence of the Iraqi govern-

When asked, Iraqi officials do not dispute the need for liberalisation but imply that the process is not possible at this stage. Speaker of the Iraqi National Assembly, Saed Mahdi Saleh, told the Jordan Times in an interview that the Gulf crisis has interrupted a liberalisation process in Iraq.

He was referring to a new constitution which involves presidential elections and allows for political pluralism in

Some Iraqis interviewed were very skeptical that the government was ready to allow a genuine liberalisation of the system. Others, including some critics of President Saddam, believe that the current crisis has unleashed popular demands for political freedoms across the Arab World and Iraq is no exception.

'The fast developments and the massive military build-up in the Gulf have intensified popular resentment of Arab regimes which do not allow for wider political participation; people want to take part in determining the destiny of the region," said the Iraqi novelist, who asked to remain anony-

Even in the highest echelons of the Ba'athist Party structure, officials and thinkers are now underscoring the essential role of democracy in the nationalist the Arab World, as crucial as they are, should not justify the sacrifice of democracy," said Dr. Elias Farah, a Syrian-born member of the Ba'athist Party National Command.

dan Times in Baghdad, the struggle.

"The dangers threatening

in general.

In an interview with the Jor-freedoms in the country," said Amaireh, who stressed that the struggle for democracy in Jordan or any Arab state is inseparable from the struggle for democracy in the Arab World

Jordanian novelist Mo'nes Razaz went further by publicly calling last week, in an article that appeared in al Dustoor Arabic daily, on Saddam to free political prisoners and re-

"The fast developments and the massive military build-up in the Gulf have intensified popular resentment of Arab regimes which do not allow for a wider political participation; people want to take part in determining the destiny of the region," said the Iraqi novelist, who asked to remain anonymous. Even in the highest echelons of the Baathist Party structure, officials and thinkers are now underscoring the essential role of democracy in the nationalist struggle.'

Swiss educated philosopher said, however, that the process towards democracy in the Third World is often interrupted by Western intervention or other challenges.

But as the Iraqi people are expected to endure a continuing international blockade, if not war, there are activists and intellectuals in Amman and in Baghdad who argue that an easing up on restrictions of political expression will consolidate the domestic front. Mohammed Al Amaireh, a

Jordanian columnist and a cofounder of the newly established Arab Progressive Democratic Party (APDP), expressed concerns among Arab nationalists in Jordan that the absence of democratic freedoms in Iraq could undermine its position in the current confrontation. "We do not want the new

Arab renaissance project led by Iraq to suffer a setback as a result of the lack of political habilitate his political opponents who were executed or stripped of their positions in the Iraqi government and Ba'athist party. Razaz, who supports Iraq in its current confrontation with the West, was criticised by other writers who felt that by raising the question of political freedoms in Iraq he could be playing into the hands of the

In Amman, concern that Iraq could be attacked and even destroyed overshadows criticism of the repressive nature of the Iraqi system. "What is the use of demanding political freedoms in Iraq when the wole country is threatened with being wiped out?" asked a Jordanian activist who has always been critical of the Iraqi regime's internal policies.

In Baghdad, however, one is struck by the bitterness displayed by some Iraqis who expressed resentment of what they viewed as Arab intellecasls' and activists' insensitive ity to the state of political freedoms in Iraq.

"You are perpetuating the personality cult here." the Ira-qi novelist said. "Why don't you emphasise your support for the Iraqi people (in pro-Iraq demonstrations) instead of exclusively focusing on the leader? Why don't you press for the easing of political res-trictions in Iraq?" He asked when watching scences of a pro-Iraq demonstration on Iraqi television.

The control of the co

mon
and that that there exat name been cent sing
there is in the cent
is in the c

in Enter in community of key do to the community of the c

nen ji dhe u

bugh (the st ership State.

let /

take

This reaction was echoed repeatedly by other Iraqis who claimed that many others felt the same way. Wide-ranging interviews with Iraqis in Baghdad conducted by the Jordan Times did not support this claim, although many expressed curiosity about it, and explicit admiration for the democratisation process in Jordan.

Several Jordanian political activists and intellectuals were rather surprised by the way some Iraqis have understood the mass rallies which have been organised in support of

"We support the Iraqi people. But Saddam has become a symbol of the current struggle. Do not forget that the West is focusing on Saddam as a person and a symbol," said one Jordanian political activist.

In Baghdad as in Amman Western claims that the campaign against Iraq aims at defending democracy and freedom is received with scorn.

"The West did not hesitate in supporting Saddam on many occasions in the past," said an artist who is very critical of the Iraqi president. "The U.S. concern for human rights and domocracy in the Arab World is a big lie, however. The Americans are trying to dictate to us who should and should not rule this country or the other in accordance with their interests. Is this democracy?"

'America has become your god'.

By Mamoun Fandy

CARBONDALE, Illinois -"It is not the world against

The speaker is not a leftist or a nationalist. He is Dr. Safar Al Hawali, dean of Islamic Studies at Umm Al Qura University in Mecca. Cassette tapes of his speeches denouncing the American deployment in Saudi Arabia are circulating throughout that kingdom just as tapes of the Avatoliah Ruhollah Khomeini's speeches once permeated the Shah's

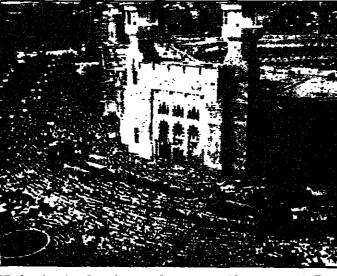

As the recent crushing of a protest by women drivers in Saudi Arabia indicates, the Saudi regime is paying strict attention to the demands of fundamentalists. The Hawali tapes are rattling the house of Saud and undermining support for the escalating U.S. military

Dr. Hawali is one of Islam's most respected theologians and the primary spokesman for the Wahabi sect. Much of the power and legitimacy of the Saud family comes from its alliance with the Wahabis. The Saudis themselves adhere to this sect, and their conquest of the Arabian Peninsula early in this century was justified on the grounds that they were bringing this puritanical form of Islam to those who had become religiously lax.

If the people of Saudi Arabia were surprised by the American deployment, Dr. Hawali says, it is because they have not been reading what has been written in the United States. America, he asserts, has long been planning to occupy Saudi Arabia. The invasion of Kuwait was a pretext.

Dr. Hawali reads from Richard Nixon's memoirs, in which the former president discusses the possibility of a permanent American presence in the Middle East. He also notes that the Carter doctrine of 1977 sought a permanent presence in the region as well, and that the division President Jimmy Carter suggested be sent to "protect American interests" - the 82nd Airborne - is the very division President Bush sent first to Saudi Arabia.

Dr. Hawali then cities an article in the spring 1981 issue of Foreign Affairs that postulates that local Gulf regimes would risk revolution if the United States came into the region without some face-saving pretext. One such pretext might be a threatened invasion by Iraq.

Pligrims kneel before the sacred mosque at Mecca, goal of all Muslims at least once in their lives. Muslims all over the world have cried out in anger at the deployment of foreign forces in Sandi Arabia where the holiest islamic sites are located.

The history of the Western powers in the Middle East, especially Britain and France. is not a pretty one, and Dr. Hawali reinforces the idea of a Western threat by quoting the Prophet Mohammad. The Prophet warned that "Rome (what the West called the Byzantine Empire) will attack you in many forms." The Crusaders, the British and French colonialists, and now the Americans are all forms of

'Rome," Dr. Hawali warns. Long aware of America's intention to use "defence of the region" as a pretext to occupy it, the Gulf states have repeatedly refused to allow the U.S. to establish military bases in their countries, says Dr. Hawah. Ten years ago, when the U.S. suggested that an American base in Kuwait would protect Kuwait from Iran and Iraq, Sheikh Sabah Al Ahmad, Kowait's foreign minister, is reported to have replied: "To me the whole thing sounds like a film scenario with two directors, the

We don't need either of you." Consequently, Dr. Hawali implies, the U.S. and the Soviets spent the next 10 years arming Iraq so that it would indeed be a threat and Kuwait truly would need Western Americans and the Soviets.

Dr. Hawali stops short of calling for the overthrow of the Saud family and advocates no violent actions. Instead, he says that the Saudis and their clergy have gravely misunderstood their religion and must atone before God. It is contrary to the laws of Islam, Dr. Hawali says, to join with non-Muslims in a battle against Muslims. His command of Islamic history and theology is so comprehensive that any Muslim would be obliged to weigh his arguments.

Finally, he accuses all who have accepted the deployment of an impiety verging on idolat-ry. "When the Mujahedeen drove the Russians from Afghanistan, you did not say, 'God helped them.' You said, 'America belped them.' Now, when we are threatened by war, you do not say, 'God will protect us. You say, 'America will protect us.' America has become your god."

These are strong words from a man whom most Saudis regard as their religious spokesman. These tapes clearly show that Islamic fundamentalism is not on the wane despite the death of Ayatollah Khomeini: it is again allying itself with nationalism in a country the that U.S. considers "friendly" and "moderate."

Fundamentalists are the cornerstone of the Saudi regime. However, their perception of the occupation and the enemy are different from that of the royal family. They are more inclined to believe Dr. Hawali when he says: "If Iraq has occupied Kuwait, then America has occupied Saudi Arabia. The real enemy is not Iraq. It is the West,"

The above article is reprinted from the New York Times.

'The Yemenis' departure has left some scars'

By Donna Fenn Heintzen

The Associated Press

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia - The familiar rugged faces and slight builds of the Yemenis, once conspicuous in markets across Sandi Arabia, are slowly disappearing as a result of the Gulf crisis. Egyptians are showing up in large numbers to replace them, along with Indians and Pakistanis in a gradual transformation of the lower echelons of the kingdom's labour force.

The unique position of the ilmost 2 million Yemeni workers here disintegrated after their government supported Iraq following its Ang. 2 invasion of Kuwait. Saudi Arabia retaliated by ending the work and trade privileges which Yemenis alone enjoyed among the scores of other workers in Saudi Arabia, primarily because of the common Saudi-Yemeni borders. About half of all Yemeni workers were forced to return home after the privileges were revoked. Saudi Arabia has a population of about 15 million. Egyptian President Hosni

Mubarak helped lead the Arab coalition against Iraqi President Saddam Hussein from the start of the invasion, and Egyptian workers are reaping the benefits. Informed sources here expected the Egyptian labour force, already estimated at 750,000 to grow by thousands as the Yeme-"I wouldn't be surprised if more than 10,000 had already been brought in," said one diplomatic source. He also noted that several large companies plan to hire Egyptians and have applied to the interior ministry for work visas. "We've even heard that Egyptian workers whose contracts were renewed in September received generous raises in salary," said on source. "It was the private sector showing their appreciation for Egypt's stand."

The sources spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Yemenis' departure has left some scars. A trip down Riyadh's Wazira Street reveals scores of empty storefronts, the interiors nothing but rubble and a few remnants of goods sold in haste.

Some Saudis complain that Yemeni bakers, known for their delicious Arabic bread, will be All Bush's horses and all Bush's men

Will never put the Mideast together again.

sorely missed and impossible to

Following the invasion, Sandi Arabia decreed that Yemen nationals, previously allowed to work in Saudi Arabia without formal sponsorship, would have to find work sponsors. Few were able to, forcing the exodus of Yemeni workers.

Although the move against Yemen was an angry response to Yemen President Ali Abdullah Saleh's alignment with Saddam, diplomatic sources here said the decision would have made sense regardless of the political situa-

"To have 10 per cent to your total population running around without documentation just seems silly," said one diplomat...
"It was silly before the invasion, but it was really brought home to them after Aug. 2."

The effect of the new rules on Saudi Arabia's economy has been minimal. A former Saudi government advisor noted that "there's a lot of underemployment here anyway and the Yemenis contributed to that. I don't think there will be major repercussions from major company here.

their loss. In fact, I think there will be some benefit." Businesses previously in competition with a plethora of Yemeni merchants would now prosper, A diplomat, however, pointed out that Saudi Arabia may feel the loss of Yemeni spending power. While the average Yemeni salary is only 700 rivals ($186) a month, Yemenis do not remit the greater part of their salaries back

"Most of the expatriates can't bring their families with them, but the Yemenis can," said the diplomat. "So they don't send as much money home. It's an important demographic difference most of the money they earn goes back into the Saudi economy." Sources estimated that approximately 1 million Yemenis will remain in Saudi Arabia under official sponsorship. Few expect that number to increase when the Gulf crisis is over. "I would't like my government to give equal opportunity to those .who did not stand with us," said the chief operating officer of a

Do Call prof 6605 AR.

> INE P ΜW PACK FORM BOOF BELIV CLEA AND

Chine ia C^{icle}

Tales des $O_{pe_{\eta_d}}$ 6:30

Economic reform and 'resistance' in Yugoslavia

By Dragovan Lazarevic

vists' insensin

rpetuating th

here " the in 1. "Why don your supporteople (in par ations) instea

ocusing on the on't you pre

of political re-q?" He aske

scences of

stration on in

was echoed n

ner Iraqis win

Wide-ranging Iraqis in Baga

by the lords

support dis

many express

r the democra

mian politica

sllectuals wer

by the wa

e understood

in support of

he Iraqi pea

has become rent struggle

at the West

lam as a perol," said on al activist

s in Amus

hat the 🐯

q aims are

cy and fe

with scon

not hesitat

dam on man

oast," said a critical of the un rights an

Arab World

owever. The

ing to dica

i and should untry or the ce with the democracy!

think there

ısly in com-

ra of Year

low prosper.

ver, pointet

ia may ending pos-ige Yemen als ($186) 2 ot remit the

alaries back

triates ^{capi}

with the

1, said

on't send fference.

y earn of econom.

hat appear

abia was Few expl se wheat

governmes

nity to book the use of the use o

ain.

"The U.S

in Jordan.

THE reform programme of premier Ante Markovic and his government is successfully being curbed, pluralism in property ownership is gradually becoming nomic relations with foreign monopolistic positions. countries are almost totally libergovernment's programme put production, the overvaluation of current political crisis, and is However, it seems that the gov- the Alliance of Reformist Forces these consequences.

The most "shocking" part of that the national currency (dinar) and the government has promised cent of cases are freely fixed.

In only one year, Yugoslavia has become the first among East tional circumstances which have European countries to establish not exactly made things easier. the convertibility of its currency (although it is only an internal convertibility) and to submit its few months an increase in personmonetary policy to the foreign al and collective spending beyond discipline known by all countries the limits laid down in the reform of the European monetary mar- programmes. That is why by the ket. The Yugoslav people can end of year the government will today freely buy, exchange and have to take measures to control take out of the country marks, the excessive spending. Prices indollars, pounds and other world creased in October by 8 per cent ations of the "Eastern sin of although it is far from the last socialism" have been underunned year's 2,600 per cent hyperinflareating some 300,000 new jobs. For a country in which the unemployment rate is still high (15 per cent), this change in the structure of economic ownership has special importance. ment will persist in its reforms.

Let Aramex Air Cargo take care of the works, Door to Door. Call the friendly professionals on 660507 or 660508 ARAMEX AR GARGO companies as well as their owners, whether Yugoslav citizens or foreign nationals, have equal

It could be said the premier's effected. Hyperinflation has been market concept has obtained political consensus, despite, the fact that it has not been equally a reality, the national currency received in all parts of the counhas become convertible for the try and by all parties. There are first time since World War II, the those who are only formally in foreign currency reserves have favour of a market economy increased three-fold, and the eco- while striving to preserve their

On the other hand, there are opposition parties which have Most people agree that con- accepted the premier's economic siderable results have been programme as their own. The achieved but those criticising the government considers that the programme of reforms will enforward figures on the drop in sure a peaceful solution to the the national currency, the in- forming a new political coalition crease in unemployment etc. on the basis of this programme: ernment had foreseen that the of Yugoslavia which will take part reform measures would have in the forthcoming multi-party

However, there is a lot of the economic reform was the fact resistance to the changes. It is mostly a matter of attempts to was bound to the West German halt the transformation of public mark in a ratio of 7 to 1. ownership into private or joint Although the government had ownership. It was on the basis of planned that the rate of exchange public ownership that the sole be unchangeable for only six political party in the country (the months, this ratio is still in force communist party) ensured its leading position in past decades. that it will remain so. The coun- That is why the resistance to the try's foreign currency reserves reforms is coming mostly from guarantee the stability of the those political forces which are national currency because they against the already tangible have exceeded $10 billion in circhanges on the political and ecocumstances when imports have nomic scene in the country. It is been virtually liberalised (95 per also an attempt to save a state cent of consumer goods) and in a with a one-party system and situation when prices in 92 per monopoly of power, which the reform is trying to abolish.

There are also some interna-

On the domestic economic scene, there has been in the past which is considerably higher than During the past year the found- the government's predictions, - i.e. public property is gradual- tion. The government estimates ly being privatised despite that it is also necessary to deopposition and difficulties. In crease public spending by at least only eight months, 45,000 private 20 per cent. Meanwhile, in the and joint companies have been past months the government has been exposed to sharp criticism by some economic structures in the country.

Despite the critics, Markovic

has announced that the govern-State, private, joint and stock This month, a series of reform laws will be put forward in the fields of foreign currency, customs, foreign trade and sales tax. The government considers that this is all aimed at stabilising political conditions in the country, stepping up economic efficiency and encouraging foreign investors who last year invested some two billion marks in Yugoslavia. The financial support given by international institutions (IMF. World Bank, etc) is very important and these institutions welcome the programme of Yugoslav reforms. That support, in the form of investment in important projects and infrastructure, amounts to several billion dollars — Tanjung Features.

Israeli censor's thick blue line

By Ian Black

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL Avi Gur Ari is an amiable enough man for a military censor and sometimes he even cracks a wry joke about his job, but he wields his blue pencil without mercy - and without humour -- in the name of Israel's national security.

From two cramped rooms in the Government Press Office in central Jerusalem, the balding, bespectacled colonel and his colleagues sift daily through press, radio and television reports, making cuts, ordering changes, and sometimes killing entire stories. Their authority, grounded in law, applies to Israeli, Palestinian and foreign journalists, though not in equal measure. The system works, but unevenly and unfairly. Calls for changes are often heard, though rarely heeded. Israel's censorship is run by the army and answers to the defence minister, but it embraces a wide range of subiects — 69 are listed — which go far beyond strictly military matters; careless talk by soldiers is not the main issue. Its latest controversial application - to information about the numbers of Soviet Jewish immigrants coming to Israel, the routes they take, and where they settle — illustrates just how easily a grey area can be created. Israel has good reason to fear Arab terrorist attacks on these immigrants as they traverse third countries. But it is also concerned about the political repercussions of the immigration, especially international pressure against their settlement in the occupied ter-

So is censorship justified? Before an answer can be given it is worthnoting that the system cannot make up its collective mind; statistics about the immigrants are released regularly by different government agencies; the routes they take and where they live are not secret; and in this area censorship has been applied only rarely.

It is in the nature of the beast that its effectiveness is hard to judge. Common sense helps; the names of the heads of Israel's security and intellirvices may not be published, although they are widely known to many journalists, and it is fair to assume they are known to the country's enemies too; and the sensational book by Victor Ostrovksy, a disgruntled former Mossad officer living in Canada, ensured that many spooky secrets came out.

Israel's media have cooperated with censorship since the system was set up in 1949, based on tough emergency regulations promulgated by the British authorities during the Palestine Mandate. Reports about sensitive matters are given on a routine basis to Col. Avi and his counterparts in Tel Aviv and Haifa. Sometimes notices are issued demanding that material on specific subjects be submitted for prior approval. Information about

Israeli military responses to the Gulf crisis has been very closely controlled. It was formally announced on Oct. 1, for example, that gas masks were to be distributed to the public to meet the threat of an Iraqi attack, although that fact had been known for days before-

Journalists who write about defence, the occupied territories, the Arab World, and foreign policy suffer most. Before the invasion of Kuwait, one Israeli reporter found that a convincing but completely imaginary scenario he had written about how the next Middle East war could begin had been spiked; a lot of it was about Iraq. On another occasion, removal of his byline from a story was ordered because the Tel Aviv censor believed his (deserved) reputation lent credence to an argument which the authorities did not wish to be to aired authoritatively.

It can be deeply frustrating business and the pressure of deadlines means that an appeal, even if successful, can come too late. Sometimes months of hard work go down the drain or is decimated. One talented investigative writer produced a riveting account of have been closed and fined This happened to the Hadashot daily when it published a photograph of two Arabs who had been beaten to death by Shin Bet security agents after hijacking a bus.

Most foreign journalists tread a fine line between the permissible and the forbidden. although few initiate contact with the censor. Some powerful American papers, especially the New York Times which enjoys almost royal status, get away with murder. News agencies are far more ciosely controlled because their stories appear in something approaching "real time" and could, theoretically, help an enemy. So when in May Palestinian raiders landed on the Israeli coast at 10 a.m. blanket censorship was enforced until 4 p.m. when it was all over. Direct computer input has made supervision harder, few people dictate their stories by telephone these days because the censor can physically cut off a call.

Sometimes the authorities can surprise by their post factor vehemence. Col. Avi complained bitterly when I wrote a piece from South Lebanon

Israeli officials insist that censorship of the Arab Press is minimal (untrue), but admit that it is discriminatory (true).

the case of Prof. Marcus Klingberg, a senior government biologist who disappeared after supposedly undergoing a nervous breakdown. All 4,000 words were killed. Sensitive stories can be run if they have already appeared in the foreign media. This absurdity means that an Israeli reporter with the scoop of a lifetime that cannot be pubed in Israel, may quieth leak it to the Guardian and then quote it the day afterwards, attributing the story to someone else. But the Guardian may not get away with it either: the international press is far from immune to the blue pencil, and sanctions when it is ignored. In recent years foreign correspondents have had their accreditation briefly suspended because of reports about the abduction of Mordechai Vanunu, the man who gave Israel's nuclear secrets to the Sunday Times, the killing of the PLO military leader, Abu Jihad, and the existence of West Bank "death squads." The penalties, however, are less severe than for the Israeli media. Only one foreign correspondent has had his accreditation permanently withdrawn, but Israeli newspapers

STUDIO HAIG

Develop your colour film at our shop and get:-

. JUMBO photo

* Free enlarge-

Shmeisani - Opp. Grindlays

ment 20 x 30 cm

size 30% larger

Bank. Phone: 604042

Swefieh tel: 823891

Professional Quality in

1 Hour Service

which mentioned the use of a new-fangled optical device employed by Israeli tanks in the "security zone." The piece was datelined Tyre, and the information in it came from sources in Lebanon, not Israel. Yet when I crossed back over the border, I faced a severe reprimand and, despite repeated requests, was never given an explanation of whether the

be applied in such cases While censorship for some Israelis is a serious headache and for foreigners a tolerable bother, for Palestinians it represents an insurmountable barrier to producing decent news papers, even though - unfashionable truth - theirs are still freer than most in the Arab World. Facts and opinions alike are blue pencil could legitimately

routinely censored. Arabic papers and magazines published in East Jerusalem often leave white space where their censored editorials should have appeared. Many news items, especially relating to the intifada, can be printed only after they have first appeared in the much freer Israeli media. Operational details soldiers disguised as women or tourists, Shin Bet activities - har a liver, ar level to disappear. are banned. In the evening, it is a common sight to see dejected Arab messengert line ing Col. Avi's office, scanning the cuts on their page proofs. An argument in the Israeli defence establishment about allowing a freer Palestinian press has never been resolved. Most Palestinians gradgingly accept the need for censorship of strictly security matters but complain that it goes far, far beyond that, and is highly unpredictable. "We fee! like someone in a swimming pool full of crocodites," says Placwan Abu Ayyash, chairman of the West Bank Journalists' Association, "You never know when, how, and why the creets dile will wake up and inyou."

Israeli officiais invist taut censorship of the Arab press is minimal (untrue), but ...im) that is discriminatory (true). When you have a press that represents your adversary or enemy," a senior army officer said, "you discriminate again; it." Yet not only news is sorerinised: advertisements, literary pieces, and even material translated from the Hebre... press have also to be submitted. From poetry, a favource Arabic medium, "nationall ti images are often deletion of a "stones" and "off : the J

Some effice argue that it is a traine a finne and effort. a. Commercial teacher enough Ruddown II. Therefore from the Art Vibril including millions and ribemmatery tadio station, for on the PLO — net to specification BBC of Voice in America — Lipep Palartimans hall in kemied.

But record is not the issue. Zeed And Zeeyad a former editor of the Al-Fajr daily. pais it well, hit i write, "Yesterle: 10 Israeli soldiers jumped dur of a treeli at Duruseus Guts sith their gens drawn, and powed three Palestranat leenlyers up against a wall inhibit them. Sốm số trong mái là sian, and drave all this would not get into the paper in instead, I say suply. Three Palestinian (will to during the hed yesterday) at Damarcus Gatel, I have a where while the sensor. Of cour et ine first account accurister, directions the scene." Poilties is the problem; most Pulestinian sountailists support the PLO out as, during the Brace Manage Linksh jourrulists unprined the Alonist Laborative in . — labe Aba Rigarip on Alonam Halayeh. fraction and secure on Ashtill a filme nov i close udviser filmeter America — have been hipricanus no disported for restaurant

7420005.2

20003-0-043609

77,734

at the temy opensa

Crifers an Sucensive

illegal activities. Bluntly, little change can be expected as long as the occupation continues. Inside the democracy of israel's pre-1967 borders, it is a different matter; there are occasional flashes of hope that the system may change. Last year the High Court forced the censor to allow publication of an article which criticaed the performance of the then anonymous head of the Mossad.

But that breakthrough has not been followed by greater openness. An all-party Knesset subcommittee recommended this summer that the number of subjects covered by cansorship be drastically reduced, but it also called for tougher penalties for infringements over military and intelligence matters. Israel's security is still very much a sacred cow, and few are prepared to slaughter it, especially when the likes of Saddam Hussein are on the loose. Some, like Yossi Sarid, the outspoken left-wing chairman of the Knesset subcommittee, want the censorship system to undergo corrective surgery; but not to identify the animal and not to wield the knife is no easy task.

This article is reprinted from The Guardian.

REPAIR YOUR CAR

AT FAST

SPECIALIZED IN BODY.

PAINT & UPEOLSTERY

FAST ENGINEERS

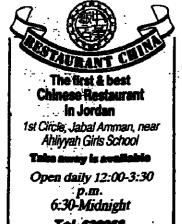

AT

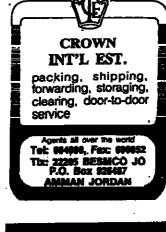

YOUR SERVICE

THE PROFESSIONALS ALWAYS CHOOSE THE RELIABLE

PACKING, AIR FREIGHT FORWARDING, DOOR-to DOOR SERVICES AND DELIVERIES, CUSTOMS CLEARANCE, TICKETS AND RESERVATIONS.

AMIN KAWAR & SONS TEL. 604676 604696 P.O.BOX 7806

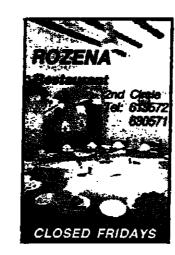

Open daily 12:00 - 3:30

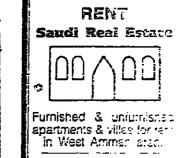

6:30 - Midnight

CALL SOMA

Rental Dept. 687821/22

The First Class Hotel in Amman that has a Kitchenette in every room...! Amman - Tell 668193

P.O. Boy 9403 - Fax 600434 Telex 23888 DAROTLUC Ideal Residence For Expatriates and Businessmen

Tul. 559 457

Kashmer Restaurant FIRST CLASS INDIAN RESTAURSAT Special Executive Luncheons available Samulsani - Grindicys Bank Bidg.

Take away service Open Daily 12.30-3.30 pm 7.30-11.30 pm After the Philadelphia Hotel Towards 3rd circle Tel:659519.659520

Milan beats Sampdoria | German federation to probe 2-0, wins supercup

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) - With a little help from its Dutch stars. A.C. Milan defeated Italian League leader Sampdoria of Genoa 2-0 in their second-leg final to capture its second consecutive European Supercup. Dutch star-forward Ruud Gullit silenced critics by scoring a beautiful goal in the 44th minute. His countryman Frank Rijkaard added a goal in the second half to give the Milan team its fourth European trophy in three years.

Milan has won two consecutive champions cups and seeks its third straight victory in the most prestigious European club tournament this season. It has already qualified for the quarter-La Samp, which leads Milan by two points in the league standings, was hampered by Milan's midfield pressing and did not produce any clear scoring chance. La Samp strikers Gianluca Vialli and Roberto Mancini were stopped by Milan's defence.

Milan won the Supercup pitting last season's champions cup winners against the holders of the Cupwinners Cup — on a 3-1 aggregate, following a 1-1 draw in the first-leg final in Genoa last

The second-leg final was played in this central Italian city, about 200 kilometres away from Milan's home field, as a result of the poor condition of the San Siro

Gullit, who returned to action this season following a one-year absence due to severe knee injury, had been criticised recently

Rand Gallit

for his mixed performances and uncertain form. Some sports dailies had suggested that Milan might drop him the end of the current season. "Ruud must only recover the edition of the Supercup beating Spain's Barcelona. best form. Tonight's goal proves It also goes after its second intercontinental cup when it plays Olimpia of Asuncion, Paraguay, he is approaching a good condicommented Maro Van Basten, Milan Dutch centerforin the Dec. 9 final in Tokyo.

German stars shine for Italian clubs find the net.

LONDON (R) - Rudi Voeller hit a hat-trick and Lothar Matthaeus also scored as Germany's World Cup stars shone in UEFA Cup third-round first-leg ties Wednesday.

Unfortunately for Germany, it was all to Italy's advantage.

Voeller, captain in the absence of injured Italian international Giuseppe Giannini, scored in the 10th, 45th and 50th minutes as Roma thrashed Bordeaux of Matthaeus netted in the 52nd minute as Internazionale Milan saw off Partizan Belgrade of potent, goal-scoring force in English soccer, take on Everton

Saturday with manager Alex Ferguson admitting he has no idea

Ferguson saw his men demolish

Arsenal 6-2 in an astonishing

League Cup result in midweek.

only three days after slipping to a 3-2 home defeat by Chelsea.

generally failed to reflect their cup form, making Ferguson's

"We seem best suited to hard games where the chips are confusion understandable.

down," he said.

United's league results have what his side will do next.

tionals were eagerly piling in the goals for their wealthy Italian clubs, their former Bundesliga compatriots struggled vainly to

Bayer Leverkusen, the 1988 UEFA champions, and Borussia Dortmund trailed after their firstleg ties while 1986 finalists Cologne could only draw 1-1 at home to Atalanta of Italy.

Bronbby of Denmark, confirming their status as the surprise team of the tournament, beat Leverkusen 3-0 in Copenhagen to notch their second success over former UEFA champions.

They beat 1980 winners Eintracht Frankfurt 6-4 on aggregate game.

in the first round, winning the Thursday night's goal was only

Milan had won last season's

Gullit's second this season.

home leg 5-0. Dortmund lost 1-0 to Anderlecht in Belgium after a late goal from substitute striker Marc Van Der Linden.

Of the four Italian teams in action, only Bologna failed to impress. They succumbed 3-0 to Admira Wacker in Vienna.

Two thousand Italian soccer fans clashed with Austrian police during the Admira-Bologna tie after trying to rip down a fence dividing them from local supporters. Police managed to bring the Italians under control after the > in Moscow. The pair danced to a medley of tunes from the musical "Jesus Christ Superstar" in white cosreceived one 5.6 and six 5.5s in technical merit and one 5.7 and six 5.6s in artistic impression.

> > Morel and Peizerat danced to music from Philip Glass's movie soundtrack of Mishima and a Mexican dance of Siesta in costumes of red, orange and gold with Morel wearing a ribbon vear-old Surya Bonaly of France took the lead after the original programme.

doping by eastern athletes

man Sports Federation has said it plans to probe allegations that top athletes from former East Germany regularly took performance-enhancing drugs.
Several athletes, including six-time Olympic swimming champion Kristin Otto, denied the allegations, published by the magazine Stern.

Among the other stars named by Stern were Olympic shot put champion Ulf Timmermann, Olympic discus champion Juergen Schult. Olympic decathlon champion Christian Schenck, world decathlon champiion Torsten Voss and long jumper Heike

Otto and Timmermann Thursday joined Voss and Drechsler in rejecting the allegations.

"I did only what was allowed," Otto. now retired, told the Leipzig radio station Sachsenradio. Otto said she had made use of various "training support measures" but did not specify which ones. The swimming star said she did not believe that she had been given drugs without her know-

Soviets

gold in figure

skating

BUDAPEST (AP) - Aliki Ster-

giadu and Yuri Razgulyayev of the Soviet Union took the ice dancing title Thursday at the World Junior Figure Skating

Marina Morel and Gwendal

Peizerat of France, who had won the second compulsory dance, received the silver medal. Bronze went to the Soviet pair of Yelena

Kustariva and Sergei Romashkin.

Defending world champions

Marina Anissina and Ilya Aver-

The 18-year-old Stergiadu is from the Uzbek capital of Tashkent, while the 17-year-old Raz-gulyayev is from the Latvian capital of Riga. Both are training

bokh finishded only fourth.

Championships in Budapest.

take 2nd

Timmermann told a German news agency that "we've heard all this before.

"I can only speak for myself and I say that (the Stern report) does not correspond to the truth," the shot-putter said. Rolf Andersen, manager of the German Sports Federation, said the national umbrella organisation, said the national umbrella organisation for all sports federations will set up a special commission in the next few days to investigate the allegations.

He said the commission will include independent doctors, lawyers and sports officials. Willi Daume, president of Germany's National Olympic Committee, demanded an international probe and said he had already been in contact with the International Olympic Committee fedical Commission.

"The situation is serious, urgency is needed," Daume said in a statement

Manfred Donike, a doping expert who is a member of the IOC medical commission, called for broader doping controls in train-

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The

first United German swimming team takes on America's best at the U.S. Open Championships

this weekend in a tune-up for the upcoming World Championships.

the January 6-13 world championships in Perth, Australia, is scheduled to compete in the three-day meet at the Indiana

University Natatorium that be-mans gives our swimmers a real test," said Terry Stoddard, who coaches some of the top American prospects at his pool in Mis-mans able to come over here

while their country was going through the unification proce-dure. We set them up with host families. These are good swimmers. They will provide a good standard to see where we are on

"They were the first East Ger-

sion Viejo, California.

"The participation of the Ger-gins Fridy.

Nearly the entire U.S. team for United German swimming team to test Americans

"The German sport is in the danger of being identified internationally with the doping practi-tioners of the East German sports," Donike said.

Donike said he was not surprised by the allegations, which he said had been widely known by insiders for years.

Stern's report said it had obtained confidential East German documents detailing systematic and comprehensive use of anabolic steroids by East German athletic stars.

It said the country's stars had been given an anabolic steriod called Oral Turinabol under strict medical supervision.

There had been steady rumours of drug use by athletes from East Germany, one of the top sports nations in the world before its merger with West Germany this year. But no East, German ever tested positive at a major event.

Several former East German athletes and defectors have made similar drug allegations since the fall of the Communist government last year.

ing includes world record holder

Mike Barrowman, 200-metre breaststroke; sprinter Matt Biondi, who won two individual and three relay gold medals in the 1988 Olympics; Dave Wharton,

the former world and U.S. record holder in the 400-individual medley, and Eric Namesnik who is currently ranked ahead of Whar-

Olympic gold medallist Janet

Evans, who was beaten in the 400-medley for the first time since

1986 this year, will be challenged

by Summer Sanders and Erika

Hansen — who defeated her in and four women includes four members who were East Germans before unification and Peggy Jahnichen-Hartung, who had defected to West Germany from East Germany prior to unifica-

The German team of six men separate races this year.

ton in the race.

HOROSCOPE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY DECEMBER 1, 1990 By Thomas S. Pierson, Astrologer, Carroll Righter Foundation

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The Fall Moon is Gemini can help you to release all that constructive energy in the right direction keeping you far ahead of where you were this time last month. Keep the long proven precepts and principles you have adopted.

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19) Consult with practical minded advisors during the day and get their considered views for your advancement but tonight avoid a riff with mate.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20) Meet with those friends who are able to give you a boost towards ished longings, then avoid a social group where confu-

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) Follow to the letter and spirit suggestions made by any prominent persons today while tonight you would do best to rely upon MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) Be more alert to some new means by which you can get along better with a bigwig and the future is easier for you while tonight avoid a different view from yours. LEO: (July 22 to August 21) You solve them well in conjunction with an expert today tonight put efforts

VIRGO: (August 22 to September 22) Consider well the wishes of an been helpful to you, even itsu means considerable conversation 10 do so.

prices berrel Bush diplor crisis Con fell ar force (II ty. si barel news Ess

Orc.

HO.

mor Tok

BO3

day.

mier Exct

FRA

the Inde

ZUB level 901...

LON

Bosh Sadd

NEW

traq indus

LIBRA: (September 23 to Octo 22) Add note of comfort and beanty to your environment which will be easy during the daytime, then relax and enjoy it with some comnions tonight.

SCORPIO: (October 23 to Nove ber 21) Whatever you have in mind about some recreation or amuse ment should work out well if you put into motion during the day and pleasure tonight.

SACITTARIUS: (November 22 to. December 21) Be very down earth about any needs of you family or your home today while tonight be sure you let conditions

CAPRICORN: (December 22 to January 20) Being very factual and down to earth in answering any communications close at hand topleting a hobby.

AQUARIUS: (January 21 to February 19) Get right into an opportun-ity now present to handle your finances sensibly and get any material problems behind you, then think up wise budget.

PISCES: (February 20 to March 20) An experience friend is now willing to give you the support you desire but it is up to you to ask for it, then later tend to your wishes

THE BETTER HALF. By Harris HARRISIO-29

ozone hole burned up their bill, so the international level." Stoddard The list-of-U.S. men-participat-Davis top qualifier

 Rod Davis of New Zealand was top scorer in the qualifying rounds of the World Match Race Yachting Champiouships Friday Owen of Britain in the semifinals.

Other international teams participating here include representatives from Canada, Portugal, Yugoslavia, Grocce and forecasts that several teenagers Olympic festival will begin showing ability on the international Among them are 17-year-old Mary Ellen Blanchard, who set

U.S. records in the 100- and 200-yard breaststroke last year; Nicole Haislett, who finished first in the 100-metre freestyle at the Goodwill Games this year and won the 50, 100-metre and 200metre freestyle in last year's open; and Sanders, 17, who won three gold medals at the Goodwill Games

"Tell 'em that radiation from the

we couldn't pay it this month."

THAT SCRAMBLED WORD GAME THAT SCRAMBLED WORD GAME WHEN Arnold and Bob Lee Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to form GEELY A principal principal for ACNIP UNBOCE ANOTHER NAME FOR ALL THAT BAGGAGE THAT GOES INTO THE VEHICLE. CAFRIB Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon. Print answer here: Jumbles: MERCY PHOTO MOSQUE SICKEN Answer: Where the investment banker turned actor could regularly be seen-IN SUMMER "STOCK"

GOREN BRIDGE

WITH OWAR SHARIF

ANSWERS TO WEEKLY BRIDGE QUIZ Q.1--At South, valnerable, you + AQ10965 K65 AJ92 + Void

4.19 ♠ AJ189 AK543 + K The bidding has proceeded: North East South 2 - Pass ?

A .- There are all sorts of scientific tids you could make, but it is unikely you will ever find out exactly what partner holds. No matter how poer å valnetable weak rump overcall partner has, there should be play for slam. Jump to six hearts.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you The hidding has proceeded: North East South West
1 Pass 1 + Pass 2 NT Pass What do you bid now?

A .- You definitely intend going to slam, perhaps even grand clam, but you do not yet know where to play ne hand, particularly since parther's opening hid might have been made on a so-so suit. However, for the moment you need do no more than bid three diamonds. That is 100 percent forcing and partner's text bid might throw some light on the situation.

+AK1064 Q J104 +AKJ4 Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with four hearts. What

A.—If you don't get into the auction with this hand, you are going to iet your opponents steal you blind. Four spades could be the winning attion, but it strikes us as being too unilateral. We prefer a double as the

Q.4—Both volnerable, as South you ainst them give eve towards that end." Ferguson also faces a selection dilemma after dropping England star Neil Webb and watching his replacement, 19-year-old Lee Sharpe, hit a hat-trick against Arsenal.

Everton, who remain in relegation danger after two draws and a defeat under new manager Howard Kendall, expect both Stuart McCall and Mike Newell to recover from foot injuries.

Arsenal have an extra 24 hours to recover before their clash with Liverpool at Highbury Sunday. Ever-controversial Nottingham

Man. United sets sights on Everton LONDON (R) - Manchester players is to match Liverpool and Forest Manager Brian Clough has United, newly re-established as a Arsenal and our cup results said he deserves the sack after goals in two games.

"I think the chairman has justification for thinking of sacking me after a defensive performance bizarre 5-4 defeat at Coventry.

save our lives."

colleague Mick Mills as his assis-

watching his side concede sever like that," he admitted after a "People have been commenting all season about our lack of goal but our trouble is we have been able to keep clean sheet to Butcher has named ex-England

Coventry's new manager Terry

In the women's singles, 17-

in yachting

and will meet Eddie Warden-

Second-placed Peter Isler of the United States will face thirdplaced Peter Gilmour of Australia in the other of Saturday's three-race semifinals.

Stoddard sees several rising stars on the U.S. team and also level here.

"The challenge ahead for the

What do you hid now?

♠KOJ10 : K104 AJ65 ♠32

Q.3-As South, vulnerable, you action do you take? more flerible bid.

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass 2 Pass

What do you bid now? A.—Two seades would be a drastic underbid, and three spades could result in your playing in the wrong major. That makes it a choice between some heart raise and a high reverse of three diamonds, and we have a preference for the latter to better prepare the groundwork for our later move toward slam. Q.5-Both vulnerable, as South you nold: J4 KJ65 +8762 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 2 NT Pass P235

What do you bid now? A .- You started with a poor hand, and partner's powerful bidding has done nothing to improve it. This could easily be a hard where a 19trick contract makes, but an 11trick one goes down. Despite your four clubs, take a preference to three spades. Don't bid no trump

Q.6-As South, vuinerable, you kold: 6 +94 The bidding has proceeded: West North East 2 + Pass

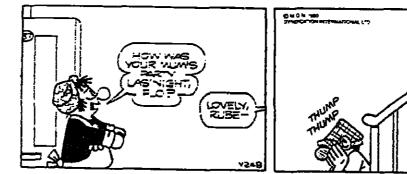

P255

What do you bid now? A .- There is no reason why you should do anything other than compiete a description of your hand. Bid four clubs. That tells partner you have at least 10 cards in the minor suits, and leaves him in posttion to judge the possibilities of the combined holding.

Mutt'n'Jeff

Andy Capp

Peanuts

VERY SELECT CROWD ALL DECENT, RESPECTABLE TYPES - SO HE LEFT EARLY AND

THE Daily Crossword by Kenneth Witte

DOWN

27 Driving ald 29 Admitted 30 Accomplishe 31 Eccentric 1 Highland Scot 33 by League 2 Oriental nanny institution 3 "La Boheme" 34 Attire Attire Spice Ostrich kin heroine 4 Sevareid 5 Honshu port 6 At once 7 Gay tune 8 Oceanic fish 44 Engrosses 45 Novice 47 Fruit

ORBIN ENTRE PAGE PERDACHOUS ERUC BROAD ERGS LIETT AMETE SMEE Talos Saliao Terre

48 Cedes to another 52 Candie or nose 53 Gern 54 Muse number 55 Blg Jen state

56 Actor Bruce 57 Forum wear 58 Account entry 59 Not say 61 Health

Economy

Oil prices tumble

prices tumbled more than $3 per barrel Friday as President George Bush held out the possibility of a diplomatic solution to the Gulf

1, 1990

er Foundation

usider who be you, even it is ble conversator per 23 to Octobe omfort and beat ment which with with some con-

you have in mind ation or amuse out well if youring the day.

uring the day and

November 2 is very down to needs of you one today white out there.

Secember 22 to very factual and

answering and lose at hand to

tary 21 to Febra

to handle you nd get any material

y 20 to Marc

a friend is no

the support you

o you to ask for

to your wishe

Harris

>-29

е

SO

RD GAME

Bob Lee

6

FOR 16E C

etters to 85 SUÇ-200.

OMOTOW

ed actor

:(or Bruce irum west icount entity ico

ŒN

Contracts for light sweet crude fell more than $1 per barrel in a span of several minutes while Bush was on television giving his assessment of the crisis. His remarks followed a vote late Thursday in which the U.N. Security Council authorised the use of force against Iraq.

Crude then kept falling sharply, sinking below the $30 per barrel threshold, after Bush's news conference had ended.

Early Friday afternoon, contracts for delivery in January were firm.

NEW YORK (Agencies) — Oil down $3.01 per 42-gallon barrel, at $29.90 on the New York Mercantile Exchange.

Contracts for crude delivery in several later months were down by their daily limit of $1.50 per Darrel.

Bush said he would invite Iraq's foreign minister, to come to Washington in December to discuss the situation. Bush also mentioned the possibility that he would send Secretary of State James Baker to Baghdad.

"The reaction is very much to his inviting Tareq Aziz to Washington and Baker to Baghdad," said Ann-Louise Hittle, a senior oil analyst with Shearson Lehman Brothers Inc. brokerage

AMMAN EXCHANGE RATES

Thursday, November 29, 1990 Central Bank official rates

	Buy	Sell	French franc	131.4	132
•			Japanese yen (for 100)	504.9	507.
U.S. dollar	658.0	662.0	Dutch guilder	392.1	395_
Pound Sterling		1303.7	Swedish crown	118.3	119.0
Deutschemark	443.4	446.1	Italian lira (for 100)	59.0	59.4
			Belgian franc (for 10)	214.7	216.0
Swiss franc	519.9	5 23.0		*	770.0

LONDON EXCHANGE RATES

LONDON (R) — Following are the buying and selling rates for leading world currencies and gold against the dollar at midsession on the London foreign exchange and bullion markets Friday.

One Sterling One U.S. dollar 1.9350/60 1.1660/70 1.5050/55 1.6990/7000 1.2825/35 31.05/10

5.0730/80 1129/1130 133.15/25 5.6260/6310 5.8700/50 5,7700/50

One ounce of gold 385.00/385.50

U.S. dollar Canadian dollar Deutschemarks Dutch guilders Swiss francs Belgian francs French francs Italian lire Japanese yen Swedish crowns Norwegian crowns Danish crowns

U.S. dollars

WORLD STOCK MARKETS

TOKYO - Stocks closed lower but well off their lows. The Nikkei Index fell more than 700 points on a weaker yen in the morning but recovered some ground later, closing 257.97 lower at 22,454.63.

SYDNEY — Shares slumped to their lowest level in three weeks as investors became more anxious about the Gulf crisis. The All Ordinaries Index fell 22.6 to 1319.7.

HONG KONG - Prices ended lower in thin turnover, rebounding from their lows after the Tokyo market recovered some of its early losses. The Hang Seng Index slipped 13.29 to close at

SINGAPORE - Share prices closed broadly softer but off morning lows on later bargain-hunting after a partial recovery in Tokyo. The Straits Times Index fell 2.82 to end at 1,106.59. BOMBAY - Share prices finished broadly lower for the third day, undermined by fears of war in the Gulf and worsening internal economic crisis, brokers said. The Bombay Stock Exchange Index fell 12.31 points to 1,196.25. FRANKFURT — Share prices were unexpectedly strong ahead of the first all-German elections in nearly six decades. The Dax Index climbed 22.31 to 1,441.23.

ZURICH — Frankfurt's strength and signs that Swiss inflation was levelling off helped the All-Share SPI Index gain 11.4 points to LONDON - Shares got a late boost from U.S. President George Bush's offer to send his secretary of state to meet Iraqi President Saddam Hussein. The FTSE Index closed 13.8 higher at 2,149.4. NEW YORK - President Bush's offer of high-level talks with Iraq countered early losses. But at 1637 GMT the Dow Jones industrials were down 2.23 points to 2,516.58.

Pakistan faces bleak economic times ahead

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — With Pakistan's international creditors awaiting repayment, foreign reserves tumbling and massive price hikes unavoidable, former Premier Benazir Bautto may have found the silver lining behind her stunning defeat in the October elections.

The opposition benches appear to be the safest seats in parliament for any politician now, according to political analysts and economists.

Reeling from skyrocketing oil prices, short-term borrowing and rapidly depleting foreign reserves, Pakistan put out a billiondollar cry for help.

"There's no way we can cover the losses ourselves," said Finance Minister Sartaz Aziz. "One billion dollars we can make up on our own, but we need help with another billion dol-lars," Aziz said.

Japan was the first to respond, offering a $500 million assistance package announced in mid-November in several Urdulanguage daily newspapers.

The announcement coincided with President Ghulam Ishaq Khan's five-day visit to Tokyo for the enthronement of Emperor Pakistan will try to cut costs by a billion dollars by hiking prices, implementing strict conservation measures and increasing exports while reducing imports. "If the economy is to improve you have to have people willing to take the heat," said a leading Western economist, who asked not to be identified. The United States suspended a $500 million aid package last month after U.S. President George Bush refused to certify that Pakistan does not possess a nuclear bomb.

"It doesn't hurt us immediately. There's still some aid in the pipeline," Aziz said.

For three months after Bhutto's government was dismissed Aug. 6 on corruption charges, Pakistan did little to direct its economy, concentrating instead on staying afloat until after the October general elections.

The caretaker government refused to hike prices, fearing it could cost the election. Instead, it. took out short-term loans with high interest rates to pay the bills. ling, it's difficult to see how the new government of Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif can forge ahead with his promised industrial re-

AMMAN — Business is bad in Jordan, one of the countries hardest hit by the Gulf crisis. But food is abundant and promises of aid are trickling in from abroad.

By Zina Hemady

The Associated Press

The Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, sandwiched between Iraq and Israel, has survived the turbulence of the Middle East since it was establised in 1921. But many analysts consider Jordan's current predicament its most perilous politically and economically.

"God help us if there's war," said Fahed Fanek, a prominent Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, who faces an international army opposed to his Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwat, could drag Israel into the conflagration, exposing Jordan. The oil that comes exulusively from Iraq to meet Jordan's domestic needs of 60,000 barrels a day will be cut off.

The country will probably be flooded with refugees from Iraq and Kuwait, as it was in August and September when more than 735,000 refugees passed through. Many had to be fed and accommodated by the Jordanians until they could be repatriated.

76.0

Prices of imported foods, including meat, have increased considerably. But fruit and vegetable grown in the Jordan Valley have become cheaper because they're not being exported to Gulf countries any more.

The Finance Ministry estimates that Jordan has lost $2 billion in revenue this year because of the Gulf crisis

With a debt already at $8.3 billion before August, such losses could be catastrophic. Fanek said Jordan will be able to keep its economy afioat with $1 billion in aid a year. But so far, it has only been promised $115 million by Germany, $250 million by Japan, $20 million by France and almost $19 million from the Netherlands as compensation for abiding by the U.N.-

imposed trade embargo on ity also has promised aid to Jordan, but the amount has not yet been set. Jordan's refusal to join the Gulf crisis scrambles Jordanian economy

Iraq. The European Commun-

anti-Iraq coalition and the Kingdom's advocacy of a negotiated "Arab solution" has stirred widespread resentment in the United States, Europe and the Gulf, traditionally Jordan's backers.

Amman was accused of hesitating to implement U.N. sanctions against Iraq, until August its main trading partner. The government came under fire by the international community and was accused of dragging its feet in pressuring Iraq.

Oil-rich Gulf countries opposing Iraq cut all trade with the Kingdom to pressure it to join the anti-Iraq alliance. The Saudis cut off oil supplies, leaving Jordan no option but to truck it in from Iraq.

Fanek said Jordan's losses have so far not yet seriously affected the Kingdom's three million people.

But he stressed: "With the current stalemate, we may start seeing shortages in two months' time."

Jordanian companies have maintained production levels and are planning for what they hope will be a limited disrup-

"That's why they haven't fired workers yet," Fanek said. But how long they can do that is questionable because they can't export much of their merchandise. The U.N.imposed trade embargo on Iraq has brought Jordan's only port of Aqaba to a virtual standstill. The Red Sea port was Iraq's main entrepot as well and few ships bother to go there any

Export losses

The government estimates Jordan's export losses since August at $440 million.

Many businesses are reporting a drop in sales of up to 60 per cent. Supermarket manager Ibrahim Darakjian said business has suffered because the store has to close early under a government energysaving plan.

The people most affected are the Jordanians who worked in Kuwait before the invasion. The government estimates there were 300,000 Jordanians, many of them of Palestinian origin, in Kuwait before the invasion. At least haif have come back to look for jobs in a country where, by Fanek's estimation, unemployment runs at around 20 per cent.

Most of these people were remitting an estimated $800 million a year, two-thirds of Jordan's foreign currency re-

Those who kept their savings in Kuwaiti currency became penniless overnight. Iraq decreed the Knwaiti dinar, once one of the Middle East's strongest currencies, would be equivalent to the Iraqi dinar. fraqi currency is not convertible. On the thinly-traded free market it was worth about one-tenth of the Kuwaiti dinar before Aug. 2 and less now.

The government estimates that Jordanian workers lost as much as $8 billion in property and savings.

Turkish miners strike

ANKARA (R) -- Nearly 50,000 Turkish coal workers went on strike Friday, spelling more trouble for government efforts to combat inflation now running at 60 per cent a year.

ers at Zonguldak mine on the Black Sea coast had stopped work to press a wage claim. Officials of the miners' union to agree with the state-run Turkish Coal Board (TTK) in negotiations which started in June. The union is demanding an 876 per cent increase over the present

($3) for its members. TTK has offered 95 per cent. Union militancy is on the rise in Turkey, where inflation has 40,000 miners, wives and children had demostrated in the streets in Union leaders said 48,500 min-

Genel Maden IS said it had failed daily minimum wage of 8,705 lira outstripped many salaries in the last three years, especially in the public sector. "In precentage terms the demand can be seen astronomic, but present base salaries cannot cover essential human needs." Ali kgun, secretary-general of Genel Maden IS, told Reuters.

Akgun said a crowd of over Zonguldak.

War in Gulf means worse U.S. recession of Leading Economic Indicators "The role of the Iragi oil will

WASHINGTON (Agencies) -The United States faces a mild recession provided there is no war in the Middle East, economlong and severe if fighting breaks lifelines cut. out in the Gulf.

The growing political crisis over Western derermination to force Iraq out of Kuwait by any means necessary has become the major unknown factor in deciding whether the world's largest economy comes out of recession by about mid-1991.

Many economists say a Gulf war following the Security Council's vote authorising force Commerce Department's index against Irag would likely mean a serious recession, with widespread joblessness and runaway inflation, as Western industrial ists say, but the slump could be economies see their precious oil

Index drops:

The government's chief economic forecasting gauge fell in October for the fourth straight month, the government said Friday, signalling a recession that many economists believe already is under way.

The 1.2 per cent plunge in the

was the latest in a string of be to intensify the recession and gloomy reports on the economy. Eight of the 11 forward-looking components in the index fell. The index actually dropped 0.1 per cent in July rather than remaining unchanged as first reported. Three consecutive declines in the index have been viewed as a fairly reliable — although not infallible - sign that a recession is approaching. The gauge is designed to forecast economic conditions six to nine months in each problem aggravates the advance.

to produce much higher overall inflation - for a time, stagflation - and to increase the risks that a much worse result could occur. said Allen Sinai, chief economist for the Boston Company in New Stagflation is the term economists use to describe a situation of both stagnant growth and rapidly rising prices, a peculiarly troublesome condition as the remedy for other.

ARE YOU INTERESTED !! CALL 845715

From A-Z furnished or semi furnished villa for rent. Suitable as a guest house or for a diplomat, reporter who likes a romantic, quiet atmosphere. Situated in the greenwood at the hills of West Amman-Salt road. Villa includes 3 bedrooms, 3 T&B, 2 living rooms, 2 dining, maid's room, guard room, 3 garages, tountain, terrace and 650m2 garden. Illustrated details are available.

TO LET

Super deluxe furnished apartment with surroundings and a garden. One master bedroom, another bedroom, two bathrooms, sitting room, guest room, lounge, fully-equipped kitchen, central heating and telephone.

Location: Jabai Amman, 4th Circle Contact tel.: 644778

CAR FOR SALE Special car for a special person

Ford Lencoln Town Car-88 in very good condition, full equipment — customs not paid interested people are kindly requested to call: Tel.: 697050

للايجار شقق مفروشة وغير مفروشة

FOR RENT

Modern Furnished And Unfurnished Apartments

Central heating and telephones.

Location: "Jabai Amman bet, 3rd & 4th Circles Shmeisani near Birds' Garden.

PASSPORT LOST

1, Manmohan Handa, holder of Indian passport No. V 027649, issued at Delhi on 10. 10. 83, valid upto 19.10.1993, lost my

If found pls call 647203

JORDAN CHAPLAINCY

ADVENT CAROLS BY CANDLELIGHT

6:30 p.m. Advent Sunday [2.12.90]

ALL WELCOME

Tel.: 628543

YOUR 1st CHOICE IN SEARCHING FOR A PROPERTY

The Minaret

Studio - One bedroom - Two bedrooms and Three bedrooms. FECENT ULTIMA SANDY

Today at 4:00 p.m.

Announces the opening of its stores and welcomes you to its stores, where you will find the most beautiful assortment of gifts:

☆ Souvenirs ☆ Silverware ☆ Crystal ☆ Toys ☆ Chocolate ★ Natural and Artificial Flowers, with unique arrangements * Balloons containing Gifts, & X-mas Decoration.

Welcome.... Ahlan Wa Sahlan

On this occasion we offer very special and competitive prices for a limited period of time.

Many Happy Returns Sweifich-All Nasouh Al Taher street, near the old Housing Bank premises,

Tei.: 829684

Cinema CONCORD

Sylvester Stallone LOCK UP

3:30, 6:15, 8:30, 10:30 p.m.

Tel: 675571

Tel: 677420

Cinema MUOUM Kamai Al Shinnawi,

liham Shahin, Farouq Ai __Fishawl APPOINTMENT

THE PRESIDENT Show: 12:30, 3:30, 6:30, 8:30, 10:30 Pridzy & Sunday extra show at 11:00 a.m. RAINBOW

Accepts patients at his new location.

Richard Young FINAL MISSION

HUSAM SHABAN, M.D.

General Surgeon

Diplomate, American Board of Surgery

A. Fellow, American College of Surgeons

Recently relocated his practice from the U.S. to Jordan.

Amman, Jabai Al-Hussein, Firas Circle Othman Ben Affan Building. Suite 201.

Office visits preferably by appointment.

Tel.: Clinic 612501

Res. 665353

Performances: 3:30, 6:30, 8:30

Tel: 634144 PHILADELPHIA

ROOF TOPS

Show: 13:30, 3:30, 6:15, 8:30, 10:30 p.m.

Tel: 699238 PLAZA

Ahmad Zaki/Raghda

CAPORIA

Show: 12:30, 3:15, 5:15, 7:15, 9:45 p.m.

Owner tel: 641443 - 642351 - 667862 Tel: 625155 The Latest Winter Models 90/91

WANTED PROFESSIONAL TRANSLATOR

emfort Shee

ank Centro, Ground Floor

Arabic to English: Must have excellent knowledge of Arabic, ability to translate into fluent idiomatic English, university education, good working knowledge of current world affairs, ability to work under pressure with precision and speed, and to work day and evening shifts on a regular basis, including weekends. Premium placed on accuracy, judgement, dedication, diligence, reliability. Good package of compensation offered.

Send typed or printed C.V. and a recent picture to: Personnel Office

P.O.Box 354 Amman NB: Recent applicants need not re-apply.

Gorbachev admits his failures

dent Mikhail Gorbachev has judged himself and other Communists "guilty before the working class in a candid admission of blame for the country's worsening economy and political peralysis.

He told nearly 1,000 delegates to the 28th Moscow City Communist Party conference that the Soviet Union faced increasing diffizulties with food supplies. ethnic conflicts, crime and "a battle of laws that has led to a paralysis of power."
"The reasons," Gorbachev

said Thursday, were "errors in the actions of central organs. above all in the Central Committee of the Communist Party, and including the actions of the general secretary and president."

Gorbachev, 59, is both the country's president and generalsecretary of the 18-millionmember party.

in an hour-long speech, he promised immediate steps to increase food supplies, reiterated his determination to hold the restive republics together, and urzed the delegates to keep the common man in mind.

The Soviet president said faiiure by the party leadership to address workers' concerns was responsible for its defeat in recent elections around the country.

"We are guilty before the working class. I think, all of us. and I personally take responsibility," he said. But Gorbachev told the delegates earlier Thursday he had no intention of quitting as party leader. He also said he was firmly

TOKYO (Agencies) - Japan's cabinet decided Friday to give medical aid to the Soviet Union

Foreign Minister spokesman

Taizo Watanabe said the cabinet decided to give 2.6 billion yen

'$20 million) through the World

Health Organisation (WHO) in

medianes and medical equipment to the victims of the Cher-

it was also considering addi-

Tokyo has never signed a peace treaty with Moscow because of a dispute over four islands the Soviet Union has occupied since

as agreeing "to continue to support the legitimate direction and movement of perestroika and extend technological assistance to the earliest improvement of fundamental relations, including a peace treaty to be concluded at the time of the visit of President

The visit by Gorhachev will be

He said the aid for the Cher-

the first by a Soviet head of state

noby, victims arose out of a joint

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two

Democratic senators say that the United States needs to change intelligence priorities to protect itself on the economic front now

While remaining the strongest military power, "we are slipping economically," and for the first time in 1992 Your no. I expenditure will be interest" on debt.

said Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois.

conservative, thinks this is rational." he added. "It is a massive

Prending over the first of two public Foreign Relations Committee hearings on national secur-

"No one, whether liberal or that the cold war is over.

Mikhail Gorbachev next April,"

"It agreed to try to realise at

Watanabe quoted the cabinet

tional medical aid for the Soviet nobyl nuclear disaster.

ocopie, he said.

1945.

he said.

to Japan.

for the first time.

MOSCOW (Agencies) - Presi- in favour of maintaining the par- buted ty's dominance in society.

Standing on a podium near an 8-foot-(2.4.-metre)-tail bust of Lenin, he spoke confidently and extemporaneously.

The speech appeared aimed at disarming his critics — led by Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin — by accepting a measure of blame while vigorously asserting that the party is on the road to renewal and can solve the country's problems.

A poll published Thursday in the government newspaper Izvestia indicated the number of people who "fully trust" the party fell from 27 per cent in December 1988 to 14 per cent in July. Izvestia gave no details on the

Gorbachev and Yeltsin differ on how to achieve a market economy, and Yeltsin's Russian parliament claims the right to pass laws superseding national ones.

Nearly all of the 15 Soviet Republics have taken similar steps towards autonomy. Several have stopped shipping food outside their borders, aggravating the shortages in major cities.

Gorbachev announced that agreements were reached Wednesday with the republics of Estonia, Kazakbstan and the Ukraine to send dairy products to Moscow and Leningrad, where milk has all but disappeared from stores this month. He also said the country's two largest cities would receive first priority for food purchased or donated from abroad, and indicated that powdered milk would be taken out of storage and distri- he said.

study by Japanese and Soviet doctors on the after-effects of the tragedy and Japanese doctors

consider entra medical aid to the Soviet people," he added. The amount will not be as large as that:

Asked about possible food aid.

Watanabe said that this needed more study. "When the wheat harvest is the best in recent years.

why do people starve? There is

He said that if the situation deteriorated and starvation broke out the situation would change.

Italy sends aid

is shipping more than 90 tonnes of food and medicine to the Soviet Union as humanitarian re-

The first 14 tonnes will be flown to Moscow Friday on an Italian Air Force plane for use by the children's hospital in the Soviet capital, said the "Together

Fears of food and vital consumer goods shortages in the upcoming Soviet winter have led Germany to organise a major relief

nesses said U.S. intelligence must reduce secrecy, shifting emphasis from geopolitical and military cow there would have been some (Republican) administration

effort" along such lines. Moyni-

The new world order was variously described as one made up of one superpower, the United States, in a "multipolar world" of several major powers and economic challenges, especially from

"The clear-cut cold war world of good guys and bad guys gives way to a world of grey guys," said

Samuel P. Huntington, a National Security official under Presi-

"You would have thought by security to economic security.

Maria Pia Fanfani, head of the

For Peace" organisation.

U.S. urged to shift intelligence priority operation.

lief in the coming days.

An Italian group said Thursday it

The cabinet also agreed to might accompany the aid.

for the Chemobyl victims.

Japan to give medical aid to Moscow

Some delegates jeered when he said supplies of key non-dairy products - meat, bread and vegetables - have remained the same or risen since last year in

"Then why isn't there anything in the stores?" one man shouted. Answering delegates' written questions, the Soviet president reiterated his desire for a political solution to the Gulf crisis. But he also toughened his position, calling for military pressure to force Iraqi President Saddam Hussein to withdraw his troops from

"Everything must be done, including military pressure pressure, I am using that word exactly — to force the Hussein regime to understand that the annexation must be halted."

Gorbachev defended his frequent trips abroad and took some credit for ending the cold war. He said that when he assumed power in 1985, "people were saying, "we are willing to endure anything, Mikhail Sergeyvich, if only there is no war. Now, he said, "no one remembers that, and what's more, they've decided that Gorbachev travels abroad too much and (say) 'enough of this travel... it's time to take care of our own problems at home

Gorbachev said the criticism was actually testimony to how far the nation has come in improving relations with the West. "It's the best praise possible."

Italian organisation, will turn over the initial aid to Soviet first lady Raisa Gorbachev, the German convoy leaves

Meanwhile a truck convoy car rying emergency food aid from

Germans to the Soviet Union set off Friday, the first delivery by land of food to help the country

German Red Cross depot near

Bonn shortly after dawn headed for Moscow via Berlin and Warsaw, a 2,500 kilometre journey

expected to last four to five days.

food parcels donated by Germans for elderly and disabled people in the Soviet capital, Red Cross

A second convoy would follow

next week if all went well with the initial delivery, the officials

A Soviet transport plane landed in Moscow Thursday night with a first delivery of 37 tonnes of food from Germany, where people have responded generously to charity appelas for help for director of the Olin Institute for Strategic Studies at Harvard Uni-

Moynihan and Huntington criticised the quality of Central

Intelligence Agency (CIA) economic analysis provided the government. In the late 1960s, the CIA estimated Soviet gross national product at 62 per cent of

U.S. GNP while Soviet economists now admit it was never more than 20 per cent, the senator said.

sfield, asked for comment, said:

"For years, we have emphasised the severity of the Soviet Union's economic problems and the negative impact of its overcommitment to defence. Our most recent analyses reflect the continuity of our assessment rather than any sudden reevaluation."

CIA spokesman Mark Man-

the Soviet Union.

versity.

They were carrying some 5,000

Four trucks and four vans left a through a winter of shortages.

Another 80 tonnes of aid will announcement said.

Visit to Moldova postponed

Gorbachev Friday postponed a one-day trip to the restive Republic of Moldova but hopes to reschedule the visit, a presidential spokesman said.

The trip was planned but for certain reasons it was postponed," spokesman Sergei Gri-goriev told Reuters. "We can only speculate as to the reasons."

He said Gorbachev's busy schedule required him to be back in Moscow by Friday evening. allowing no flexibility in his programme.

Earlier, Radio Mayak and local officials in the Moldovan capital of Kishenyov said heavy fog around the city had blocked incoming flights and delayed the president's arrival.

The visit was to have been Gorbachev's first full trip within the Soviet Union in nearly a year. It was seen as a bid to deflect criticism from recent trips to Spain, France and Italy and show a greater commitment in tackling the Soviet Union's divisions.

The planned trip to Moldova. where at least three people died in ethnic-based clashes last mouth, comes two days after he cancelled a trip to Norway to receive the Nobel Peace Prize, saving the crisis at home needed his "hour by bour" attention. Moldova, formerly Moldavia. has been hit by ethnic tensions as breakaway Turkic and Russian minorities battle what they see as discrimination by the Romanianspeaking majority.

Bulgarian premier resigns

be shipped by truck in the next | SOFIA (AP) — The last remcan's of Bulgaria's Communist Party have been removed from office, as premier Andrei Lukanov and his Socialist government gave in to unrelenting popular pressure and resigned.

Lukanov's Socialist Party is the former Communist Party, renamed last spring. Lukanov said Bulgaria's new premier will not come from his party.

This represents the true end to communism in Bulgaria," Petar Beron, leader of the opposition Union of Democratic Forces said in an interview Thursday.

"It is important that finally we are free of Communists," said

Tens of thousands of demonstrators, eagerly awaiting word on Lukanov's resignation around the Grand National Assembly, burst into cheers after hearing the news of the government's fall. Police estimated the crowd at up to 70,000.

"Lukanov KGB spy," and "down with Communists" chanted the jubilant crowd, waving blue flags of the main opposition alliance. Some uncorked chempagne bottles. Sofia radio played the Beatles' Let It Be, and television showed the crumbling of the Berlin Wall.

After Lukanov and his cabinet announced their resignations, the opposition trade union Podkrena and the confederation of Indenendent Trade Unions immediately called off a general strike. The action started Monday to force Lukanov out of offiœ. The Bulgarian parliament Friday accepted the resignation of Lukanov and agreed to work to form a caretaker government.

The packed chamber voted by a large majority in favour of the resolution.

His resignation was smoothed by an agreement between the Socialists and the UDF to discuss a caretaker government under a neutral prime minister.

Relations strained as Oian starts talks in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Amid new signs of uneasiness in Sino-American relations, Chinese Foreign minister Qian Qichen is meeting with U.S. officials in his first visit since before the 1989 crackdown on pro-democracy denonstrators.

The Chinese official Thursday participated in the New York meeting where the United Nations Security Council approved a resolution authorising use of military force to drive Iraq out of Knwait.

Qian said earlier this week he expected to meet with President George Bush, but no such meeting was scheduled by late Thursday. A session with members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee was set for Friday after-

Chinese officials had led the Bush administration to believe that Qian would support the resolution on Iraq but he opted instead to abstain, causing sur-prise and disappointment at the State Department.

Qian revealed he was not prepared to support the resolution as he was leaving Peking for New York. He left the impression among some that his government was annoyed with speculation that the United States was inviting Qian to Washington to reward him for China's support in the Gulf crisis.

Hours before the vote, the Chinese Foreign Ministry denied there was any link between China's stand on the resolution and Qian's invitation to visit Washington.

Baker had wanted as lopsided a vote as possible to send a clear signal to Iraqi President Saddam Hussem of international resolve on the Gulf situation. China supported all 10 previous Security council resolutions on that issue. Excluding China's vote, the tally Thursday was 12-2 in support of the resolution

There also are clear signs that human rights questions continue to be a sore point between the two countries. The State Department said human rights would be on the agenda for Friday's meeting with Qian. Asked about that possibility Thursday, Foreign Ministry spokesman Li Zhaoxing said in Peking, "It is not appropriate to interfere in some developing countries' internal affairs with an excuse of human

The Bush administration has barred high-level exchanges with China as a show of displeasure over its crackdown on demonstrators in Tiananmen Square in June

It has said Oian's visit does no violate that policy because his discussions in Washington are re-garded as "contacts," which are permitted. Meetings in the category of "large ceremonial exchanges" are barred.

The State Department has noted that Baker has met on a number of previous occasions with Qian since the events at Tiananmen Square. Three of the meetings were in New York and the others were in Paris and Cairo.

Baker is being urged to press human rights issues privately and in public when he receives China's foreign minister.

Letters to Baker from the chairman of a congressional human rights panel and from Asia Watch, an independent Washington-based human rights organisation, asked the secretary to link improvement of U.S.-China relations more firmly to Chinese action to halt persecution of citizens seeking more democracy,

"Even though China has been relatively supportive of U.S. policy in the Gulf and in developing a peace agreement in Cambodia, it is imperative that the Chinese government is reminded that progress on human rights is the key to improvement of ties with the United States," said a letter to Baker from Congressman Gus Yatron, chirman of the House of Representatives Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Human Rights and international orgamisations.

Yatron urged Baker to stress to Qian a need for "fundamental changes" in Chinese human rights and to tell him "unless China's human rights record significantly improves," Congress will revive proposals to cancel U.S. trade concessions for China

after it reconvenes in 1991. Qian should be reminded that in the final days of its last session. the House "overwhelmingly passed two bills either conditioning or denying most-favoured-nation (trade) status to China based on that country's dismal human rights record," Yatron said.

Dhaka lifts curfew in cities; protests continue and three other major cities for seven hours Friday, but protests continued against the state of emergency declared by President Hussain Muhammad Ershad

It was the longest relaxation since Ershad declared the state of with mounting protests demanding his resignation. In Dhaka, the capital, club-wielding riot police beat some of about 200 women who demonstrated on a major street, according to reports reaching India by unofficial channels. A few journalists observing the demonstration also were beaten, according to witnesses who requested anonymity because of a government-imposed news black-The protesters had gathered outside the National Press Club in Dhaka. After they started chanting "we don't accept cen-sorship," they were confronted by about 100 riot policemen, according to the unofficial reports.

In Chittagong, Bangladesh's second-largest city, 446 doctors. teachers and staffers at the Chittagong Medical College and Hospital resigned to protest the emergency declaration, according to reports conveyed by interme-

In another development, an engine and three coaches of a passenger train derailed north of Dhaka because of a loose section of track, railroad spokesman Jamil Ahmad said in Dhaka.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Bang-ladesh lifted a curfew in Dhaka ing to a senior railroad official who spoke on condition of anony-

No injuries were reported in the Thursday night derailment.
Residents of Dhaka, scene of much of the violence in the 6week-old anti-Ershad campaign, emergency Tuesday night to cope streamed out of their homes in search of food when the curfew was suspended at 8 a.m. (0200 GMT) Friday, according to the reports reaching India.

The city of 7 million people appeared calm at mid-morning, with traffic returning to the streets after the relaxation of the curfew, said an Associated Press reporter in a censored report from Dhaka. No immediate reports were available from the three other cities where the curfew was temporarily lifted.

Under the state of emergency imposed Tuesday night, all civil rights are suspend and news reports are censored. Ershad, a former army general who took power in a bloodless coup in 1982, said the emergency was needed to preserve "internal security and the national eco-

On Friday morning, the staterun radio repeated its Thursday night bulletin that "the country remained largely peaceful." Staterun television did not refer to the emergency or the law-and-order situation during its midmorning

The government, in a news release Thursday night, said only a few incidents marred the peaceful situation Thursday.

Woerner: NATO should not act as global policeman MADRID (AP) - NATO General Secretary Manfred Woerner has said the Atlantic alliance should not serve as a policeman in international con-

"There's no way NATO can or should act as a kind of global policeman," Woerner said during brief visit to Spain.

His comment appeared to mend remarks he made earlier Thursday in London before the l6-nation alliance's assembly of member nation legislators. In London, he told the lawmakers of the North Atlantic Freaty Organisation (NATO) the Gulf crisis illustrated why Western allies must be prepared to defend themselves against threats originating outside Europe.

"We cannot neglect...to deal with those global challenges which directly affect the security of our member nations and the stability of the pan-European system," Woemer said.

"Risks can arise from new and inexpected quarters," he added. Threats to NATO's territorial integrity from beyond Europe cannot be down-played as out-ofarea threats."

In Madrid, Woerner stressed that "these long-term ideas have nothing to do with the Gulf situstion today. "The Gulf conflict is not a President) Saddam Hussein and NATO, but between Saddam and the United Nations or the rest of the international community," Woemer said.

"NATO has not acted outside of its area (in the Gulf crisis) and will not do so," he said. "I do not want to burden the solidarity of our (NATO) member nations (on the Gulf crisis) now with any of the discussions about (NATO) out-of-area action in the future," he said. But Woerner did say that NATO must redefine its mission now that the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe has heralded the end of the cold war. He said the alliance's role in the future would consist of guaranteeing security and stability in Europe while promoting change in the newly founded Eastern European democracies and reforms in the Soviet Union. Within those two objectives would come verifying arms control agreements, anchoring ties between the United States and Canada and European security, and providing support for United Nations efforts to stop the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

"Our role will change more from peacekeeping to peace-confrontation between (Iraqi building," Woerner said. Rebel convoy destroyed by Sri Lankan helicopters

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) - the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Helicopter gunships bombed a Eelam (LTTE), the rebel group Tamil rebel convoy of six trucks in northern Sri Lanka, killing at least 15 guerrillas, military officials said Friday.

They said the convoy was attacked Thursday at Pooneryn, a rebel-held ferry town 30 kilometres southeast of Jaffna city. Pooneryn is a transit point for traffic across a 4,000-metrewide lagoon and one of two main routes from the mainland to the Jaffna peninsula, the rebel stron-

Pilots reported that three trucks exploded, indicating they were carrying explosives, the There was no immediate confirmation of the bombing raid by ceasefire.

fighting to set up an independent Tamil nation in northern and eastern Sri Lanka A military communique said

by soldiers elsewhere in the The attack was the first major three rebels were killed Thursday

action by government forces against Tamil rebels since a vital army camp at Mankulam was stormed and captured by the Tigers Saturday.

The attack on the Mankulam camp lasted two days and was the worst setback to the government since Tamil rebels resumed fighting after breaking a 13-month

Journalist disappears after denouncing Colombian cartel of the Colombian Journalists' Association disappeared after writing a letter denouncing the Medellin cocaine cartel. Alejandro Jaramillo hasp't been seen for about a week, said the association's secretary. Robinson Ricardo Rada, in statements published Thursday, Rada said he suspected Jaramillo was taken by the Medellin cartel, which is believed to be holding eight other journalists hostage. The Colombian Journalists' Association is a national independent trade organisation promoting reporters' interests.

Rada, in comments were published by the Bogota daily news-

BOGOTA (AP) — The president paper El Espectador, said Jaramillo received a series of death threats last week after writing a letter to a group of political and church leaders who were trying to negotiate the other journalists'

> In the letter, Jaramillo denounced a peace offer from drug lords as a manoeuvre to "simply gain breathing room to organise cruel actions against Colombian society.

> Members of the Medellin cartel said last week that between 200 and 300 of them would be willing to surrender in a heavily fortified compound protected by the army. In return, they want deals with prosecutors.

COLUMN

Village adults to be fingerprinted.

after murder

AHORS, France (AP) Police, confounded by what seems like the perfect murder, will take fingerprints this weekend of all 200 adult residents of the village of Montgesty, offcials said. Investigators have tried for nearly a year to find the murderer of Raymonde Martig. nat, an elderly village woman found bound and suffocated with a rag on Nov. 22, 1989, in a shed near her home. The motive for the crime continues to escape investigating Judge Charles Pinarel, police sources said Police found the victim's house completely ransacked, but her money, checks and identity papers were not taken. Village Mayor Rene Migayrou said the judge asked him to call all adult villagers to the municipal auditorium so police could fingerprint them. Migayrou said he had received no complaints "and lots of people think this should have been done sooner." The mayor said he personally thinks the murderer is not among the villagers and this operation will a lence the rumours running through town for the past year.

Taiwan repatriates orangutans to Indonesia

TAIPEI (AP) — A group of Taiwanese schoolchildren escorted 10 orangutans back to Indonesia in Taiwan's first repairiation of the rare animals, which were smuggled into this island. The 104 primary school students were to meet in Indonesia with conservationists who would help the apes return to their natural environment in the forests of Borneo, officials said. The orangutans have been housed in Taipei's 200 since May, when they were seized by customs offcials. "We are glad the orange tans. We are gian the orange-tans can return home and live a free life," said fifth grader Lin Tien-Yu. Lin Hsiang-Ning, vice chairman of the Countyl of Agri-culture, said the repatration showed the Taiwan government's determination to enforce wildlife protection in Taiwan. He also urged conservationists and Taiwan owners of other orangutans to send the animals back. The orangutan is listed as an endangered animal.

Tokyo, Osaka are world's most expensive cities cum daily de n

onii.

liom City

sever NCIC

of jet daily viction sed (

Son

CAIR Mais Aden where

Counting South Counti

Moza

_{lea}ch

ROME ,

The government of the control of the GENEVA (R) — Tokyo and Osaka are the world's two most expensive cities, according to a private consultancy which ranked Libreville and Brazzaville in Africa as the next dearest. A survey issued by the Geneva-based Corporate Resources Group (CRG) put Oslo, Helsinki Zurich, Geneva, Stockholm and Copenhagen in the rest of its top 10. The one bargain in Europe was Prague, beaten by Quitd, Ecuador, for the cheapest cost of-living of 100 cities reviewed, New York, used as a standard to compare such costs as food and drink, services, clothing, utilities transportation and entertain ment, was 41st on the list House ing costs were excluded by the survey, done in September. Tehran ranked first in May but a CRG spokesman said Iran's capital was dropped because of problems getting cost data. CRG said the biggest change came in the Western hemisphere where Brazil's Sao Panlo and Rio de Janeiro had become by far the most expensive because of high

Gorbachev jests about economic confusion

MOSCOW (AP) - Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev emerged from an all-day parliamentary session in a jovial mood, and told reporters a joke about the faltering Soviet economy, "I can't really tell it with ladies present." Gorbachev teased toward the end of a 20-minute session with journalists in a Kremlin lobby after a meeting of the Congress of Peoples' Deputies of the Russian Federation. "Oh, go ahead," said women reporters and lawmakers. Gorbachev grinned and proceeded with a joke about himself, French President Francois Mitterrand and U.S. President George Bush. "They say that Mitterrand has 100 lovers. One has AIDS, but he doesn't know which one," said Gorbachev. "Bush has 100 bodyguards. One is 4 terrorist, but he doesn't know which one. Gorbachev has 100 economic advisers. One is smart, but he doesn't know which one," the Soviet president said.

ity Wednesday was Sen. Daniel Patrick Movilhan of New York. The two senutors and expert wit- dent Jimmy Carter and now redistribution of wealth."

E. Germans face 4th election in 34 weeks BERLIN (AP) - After four decades of rigged elections that gave the Communists a numbing succession of imaginary landsildes, eastern Germans are suddenly awash in the freedom to

On Sunday, they will join their Western countrymen for the first united German elections since

For a people long denied fundamental rights, that will be the fourth free and fair election in the past 10 months in what used to be . Еаst Germany.

Some people, it seems, have lost their electoral enthusiasm. "I won't vote Sunday," said Andrea Fischer, who also skipped the last two elections. "The more I know about these parties. the more they seem almost com-East Germans, after overthrowing the Communist hardliners, jubilantly chose a democratic government in March. In May, they elected new local leaders. throwing out hundreds of Communists still clinging to pow-

On Oct. 14 - a scant 11 days after German unification - they chose the governments for the five states their nation had become.

But with another historic chapter about to be written Sunday, a definite air of apathy hangs over the former nation.

Some of it has to do with the seeming inevitability of the outcome. Chancellor Helmut Kohl, whose conservative Christian Democratic Union (CDU) dominated the first three races in eastern Germany, is expected to handily retain his post.

A little of it has to do with a growing familiarity with democratic political campaigns. The novelty has worn off, the euphorin is gone. Political rhetoric is greeted with Western-style cynic-

A lot of it has to do with the situation of the eastern Germans themselves, who are expected to face a dramatic surge in joblessness as their sputtering enterprises use up what little credit

they have left in the coming

"I have a child and a job that I only work four hours a day." said Ms. Fischer, 33, a postal emplovee who lives in the village of Schildow, north of Berlin. "I just believe my vote won't make a difference." she said.

Ms. Fischer, who would have supported the environmental Greens Party or the left-leaning Social Democrats, says she believes even they don't have a strong enough message to lure her to a voting booth Sunday. Kann Wernecke, a 30-year-old

Berliner and former Communist, will vote as she always has: For the Communists, now reformed and renamed the Party of Democratic Socialism. "We won't win, but we need this voice," she said. Ms. Wernecke, a single jobless mother.

says she has little hope for the future under the Christian Demo-Kohi Thursday publicly scolded his junior coalition partin federal elections Sunday. whelming victory in the first free elections in Germany.

coalition allies in a government that has not yet been formed. The last-minute feuding livened a campaign that has underdog rival for united Germany's leadership, Social Democrat Oskar Lafontaine, both beaded for southern Germany Thursday for a final day of campaigning.

Lafontaine had arranged a rally in his home city, Saarbruecken, while Kohl was to appear in Stuttgart and Offenburg.

Kohl's current government ners for trying to prevent him Free Democrats.

from gaining an absolute majority The dispute did not appear to endanger Kohl's expected over-

But it reflected fierce manocuvring for power among his shown a pancity of drama. Meanwhile, Kohl and his consists of his middle-of-the-road Christian Democrats and their arch-conservative Bavarian sister party, the Christian Social Union. and the less powerful Liberal